Produce Merchants Split Up

Merchants at South San Francisco's new produce plant, who broke away from the local group, were told last week they will lose their share of San Francisco's $250,000 in purchases over a year.

San Francisco city officials have suggested that no bids be accepted from firms lacking facilities within the city for storage and distribution of products.

Islais Creek is the proposed new site for relocation of San Francisco's facilities. City officials said the new produce market there should be completed and ready to occupy within four or five months.

When the redevelopment plan for the downtown produce area was approved several years ago, heated discussion began as to where the new produce market would be relocated.

A group of firms, including several of the larger concerns, pulled out of San Francisco and are now established in their own facilities beside the Bayshore Freeway. The remaining group is awaiting the building of the Islais Creek market.

Men Suffer 'Dropsy' at Intersection

It was fall-down-and-have-a-fit day last week at Bepler and Mission, at the top of the hill in old Daly City.

On Tuesday, Nils Palmer, 65, of 63 Vendome, got off a bus at Mission and San Jose, walked across the intersection and fell flat on his face, leaving a large pool of blood.

Police arrived, not knowing whether Palmer had been beaten up or hit by a car. He was later taken to Community Hospital.

Another man, who also apparently just got off a bus at the corner, James W. Sullivan, 53, of 530 Grifon, San Francisco, was arrested fleeing from the scene.

Sullivan had cuts and scratches on his face and head. He told police he suffered from epilepsy and had fallen on his face trying to run away when officers arrived at the scene. He was held on a drunk charge at city jail.

On Wednesday, John W. Hutchinson, 32, of San Carlos, was involved in a three-car crash at Bepler and Mission.

He stepped out of his car, walked to the sidewalk, and fell to the ground, then apparently went into a fit. He had to be held by an officer and was later placed in a 72-hour hold at Community Hospital.

Issues discussed and voted upon last week were restriction and advertisement of cigarettes and prevention of minors from obtaining cigarettes; restriction of foreign aid to Communist countries; legal abortions, and limiting Presidential use of federal troops in states.

CALIFORNIANS URGED TO TOOT WHISTLES ON "No. 1 POP DAY"

California, which will be the nation's most populous state by the end of the year, will also be the noisiest on the final Friday of 1962.

December 28, at 4 p. m., has been earmarked for Operation Whistle Stop, with Californians urged to toot whistles, honk horns, ring bells and shoot off village cannons in celebration of their state becoming No. 1 in population.

This crescendo of sound is scheduled to reach its climax at 4 p. m. on the big day, as many factory whistles and church bells chime in, according to the California Association of Chamber of Commerce managers. This group has organized the tumultuous tribute as one of several statewide programs recognizing California's new national leadership.

The Bay Area and Northern California are expected to rate particularly high in decibels, with both the state chairman for Operation Whistle Stop and the president of CACOM helping to develop plans.

"We hope to rival sonic booms with our sound on the ground," declared James Park, chamber manager at Fairfield-Suisun and project chairman for Operation Whistle Stop.

"Let's make more noise than a mining camp chivaree," added Frank M. King, general manager of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce and currently the tumultuous tribute as one Antenna "Farm" Plan For San Bruno Mtn.

A plan aimed at improving television reception throughout the San Francisco Bay Area and consolidating transmission facilities on an antenna "farm" atop San Bruno Mountain bordering Daly City will be submitted to new hearings in Washington, D. C., this week.

The Federal Aviation Agency will hear rebuttal testimony from representatives of the communications industry in San Francisco and Crocker Land Co., owners of the San Bruno Mountain property.

They seek permission to construct a 734-foot tower on the mountain peak, a location described by communications authorities as ideal for radio and television transmission. Seven smaller towers are already located on the 104-acre site set aside for antennas. These provide transmitting facilities for three television stations (KTUV, KRON, and KQED), six FM radio stations and 13 mobile radio stations. New UHF-TV stations soon to be added to the area are Kaiser Industries Channel 44 and possibly Channel 38.

Elevation at the top of the mountain is 1315 feet. Cost of the new tower is estimated at $2,000,000.

The proposed tower on which the several television transmitters could be located would greatly improve TV reception throughout the Bay Area. Although stations are now operating at maximum allowable power, several sections of the Bay Area receive faulty signals (shadowed areas) because of the hilly terrain. Increasing height of transmitting facilities is the only way reception can be improved.

Arguments will emphasize that the hazard to flying is actually reduced by the placing of all towers in one well-established location.

CONTEMPORARY ARCHITECTURE symbolizes the completion on Brotherhood way.

Four Major Faiths On Brotherhood Way

Church Building Program Progresses

By Jack Wood

What has been called one of the most unique church building programs in America is under way on Brotherhood way, a street formerly called Family drive, bordering Daly City. The street will contain buildings for four major faiths.

Two impressive structures are currently under construction—the Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church and the Church of Christ. Ground-breaking was held recently for the Temple Judea Church. St. Thomas More Catholic Church is already established. A Masonic building is planned.

Greek Orthodox

Very early Byzantine architecture is evident in the $701,000 Greek Orthodox Church which will seat 900 and contain a school on the lower elevation of 15 classrooms.

Twelve pillars which contain 600,000 pounds of poured concrete rise 74 feet to support a 60-foot-wide dome. Each of the pillars weigh 600 tons and represent the 12 apostles. The circular building represents the Holy Trinity.

A youth center and gymnasium and youth chapel are also planned on the 8½ acres of church land at the site. Architect is John Lyon Reid and Associates of San Francisco.

Church of Christ

The Church of Christ on Brotherhood way resembles a huge Swiss chalet.

The building, actually one huge triangle roof rising 45 feet from the floor, is designed on a 14-12 degree pitch. Architects are E. W. Koerber of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Labor for his 120-foot long edifice is primarily from the local congregation. The building will contain an auditorium to seat 700, 15 classrooms and a nursery for children.

The present congregation of some 300 members is at 3459 17th street. The pastor is Ray F. Osborne. The building is of contemporary design and is expected to be completed by the end of January, 1963. Cost of $260,000. Builders are Clovis Construction Company.

TWELVE PILLARS represent Twelve Apostles at Holy Trinity. Greek Orthodox Church under construction on Brotherhood way. The $701,000 building, which will seat 900, is expected to be completed by next August. Architectural design is early Byzantine.

Council Notes

City manager Edward Frank said Monday that bids are to be opened in January for State Parks Department work on picnic sites and other improvements at Thornton Beach State Park. Councilmen suggested that civic ceremonies at the park be held in the spring.

Madsen Company was the low bidder at $16,236 for instrumentation of the water system. The contract for surging, swabbing and cleaning of wells was awarded to Roscoe-Moss Company.

In a close 3 to 2 vote, the council recommended denial of a request by Gateway Chevrolet to increase the maximum height of a proposed sign to 63 feet. Councilmen Robert St. Clair and Frank Pacelli voted against the recommendation.

Mayor Joseph Verducci asked the city manager, city engineer and finance officer to prepare a report regarding a request by the local scavenger company for higher rates. In a letter to the council, the scavenger company cited operational costs were now higher and the company was charging rates lower than in other districts.

The council adopted a resolution endorsing "Operation Santa Claus" in Daly City-Colma as a worthwhile charitable endeavor.

The city set a hearing for January 14 to set forth a proposal by the Yellow Cab Company for a raise in rates.

In other action, the council made plans for codification of all city ordinances and okayed the annexation of five acres of the Panorama subdivision property to straighten boundary lines.

Three Wigs Stolen

Henry Doelger Corp., Inc., 373 Park Plaza drive, reported the theft of three wigs from animated figures in the Westlake Mall. Total value was set at $8.85.

Chapman Finalist

In Speech Convo.

William Chapman, Area 5 speech contest winner and a member of the Daly City Toastmasters' Club, was among finalists in the December 1 humorous speech contest staged at the Toastmasters International District 4 conference at the Hilton Inn in Burlingame.

Winner was Jim Wu of the San Jose Club No. 2873. Keynote address was given by Bob Knotts, immediate past governor. He spoke on "Evaluation—Force or Fance."

Guest speaker Frank McCarthy, who is studying for his master's degree in teaching at San Francisco State College, spoke on the art of communications.

The Daly City Toastmasters meet each Thursday at 7 a. m. in the Westlake Library. Interested persons are welcome to attend.

St. Clair Victor

In Post Game Fight

Bob St. Clair, Daly City councilman and 265-pound tackle of the San Francisco 49ers, emerged victorious at a session of post-game action last Sunday after his team went down to defeat.

Two hecklers were decked and knocked out cold. A third was put out of action.

St. Clair, unable to play for the past month because of injuries, said he was jeered and cursed when he stopped his car for traffic after the game at Sixth avenue and Irving street.

Because his wife, mother-in-law and his partner were in the car, St. Clair jumped out and told the hecklers to be quiet.

With that, according to the 6-ft. 9-in. tackle, one of the three slugged him on the cheek.

St. Clair, one of the biggest and toughest players on the 49er squad, "belted one and threw another against a wall." A third was lying on the deck when spectators broke up the battle.

Evelyn Mosman To Retire As DC City Clerk

Mrs. Evelyn Mosman, who began as deputy city clerk of Daly City in 1944 and served as city clerk since 1956, announced Monday she will retire.

In announcing her resignation to the city council, Mrs. Mosman said she had enjoyed her years of work with the city. Her resignation is effective Feb. 1, 1963. Mrs. Mosman cited a desire to be with her family in Southern California.

She was commended by the city council for "capable and distinguished service." Mrs. Mosman, who was widowed one year ago, will be replaced by Mrs. Anna Ohlendorf, who is now serving as deputy city clerk. Mrs. Mosman's term would not have expired until April, 1964. Mrs. Ohlendorf will take office February 1.

Daly City Fire Department Issues Fire Warning On Christmas Trees

The Christmas tree, filled with natural pitch and resin is very combustible and can burn so quickly it is almost impossible to extinguish by ordinary methods.

This warning comes from Chief Kennedy of the Daly City fire department and he offers the following precautions to help prevent a Christmas tree fire:

- 1—Buy a fresh tree. Bewary of trees sold as fireproof.
- 2—Keep tree in a cold place until you are ready to set it up.
- 3—Before setting up tree, saw off diagonally at least one inch of trunk and place base in a water containing holder. Keep water reservoir filled.
- 4—Locate the tree well away from the fireplace, radiators, television set, large electric lights, other sources of heat.
- 5—Never use candles. Use only electric lights that are approved by the Underwriters Laboratories. Check wires for defects and loose sockets before installing them on tree.
- 6—Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload the house wiring and blow a fuse. Never increase the size of the fuse, or substitute a penny for a blown fuse.
- 7—Turn off the tree lights when no one is to be in the room or at home for any length of time.

8—Do not operate electrical trains or any other electrical toys which may spark under the tree.

9—Be sure the ends of metallic icicles or other hanging decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit or flash fire.

10—Move the Christmas tree lights as the tree's needles near them turn brown.

11—Dispose of old trees in fire-safe areas out of doors. Not in furnaces, stoves, fireplaces, because Christmas trees burn with almost explosive violence.

12—Cut the branches off the main stem, then cut main stem in about three-foot long pieces, then bundle and tie. Place this near your garbage can on your regular pick-up day and the garbage company will pick it up.

The Tehachapi pumping plant of the California aqueduct system will lift water 1,949 feet in one continuous lift from the floor of the San Joaquin valley.

The Medal of Honor stands at the top of the "Pyramid of Honor," the term used by the Army to describe the degrees of heroism and their corresponding decorations.

PREVIEW SLATED FOR CROCKER-ANGLO'S NEW WESTLAKE OFFICE

Crocker - Anglo National Bank will hold a special preview and open house from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, December 19, in its new Westlake office in the Westlake shopping center in Daly City, it was announced by Chairman of the Board Paul E. Hoover, the bank's chief executive officer.

Refreshments will be served during the three-hour preview and souvenirs for adults and children will be distributed. In addition, a public drawing will be held to wind up the evening's activities. Prizes will consist of initial deposits in savings accounts.

Assistant Vice President Fred H. Brylka, manager of the new office, said the public will be greeted by Crocker-Anglo officials from San Francisco and San Mateo County. Assistant Manager Joseph E. Medina and staff members of the new office will also be on hand to welcome guests at the preview and open house.

Crocker-Anglo's Westlake office will be the bank's fifth office in San Mateo County. The four other offices are located in the Skyline Plaza shopping center in Daly City and in Redwood City, San Mateo and South San Francisco.

The new office is equipped with 15 teller windows, a night-and-holiday depository, a conference room, a full safe deposit vault, a staff lunch room and a lounge. The office will occupy a total of 5,410 square feet.

CACOM president. "Who says the chivaree is dead in California?"

Several hundred local chambers, including more than 50 in the Bay Area, are using Operation Whistle Stop as the starting signal for many community activities with a "California First" theme. Parades, store displays, school, church and club programs, "oldest settler" searches, sports and musical events, fiestas, essays and poster contests are all included in chamber plans.

December 28 through January 1 have been proclaimed as "California First Days" by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who has called for a statewide celebration to commemorate California's new position as the most populous state.

Because of seasonal changes and fluctuations in civilian and military migration, state of California and chamber of commerce population technicians are not trying at this time to name an exact date when California will pass New York — the United States population leader since 1812. They believe, however, that by the time the four-day celebration period arrives, California's population leadership will be an accomplished fact.

Officers Named for Crocker-Anglo's New W'lake Office

Fred H. Brylka has been named assistant vice president and manager, and Joseph E. Medina has been named assistant manager, of Crocker-Anglo National Bank's new Westlake office, scheduled to open next week in the Westlake shopping center in Daly City.

The appointments were announced by Chairman of the Board Paul E. Hoover, Crocker-Anglo's chief executive officer. Brylka's banking experience in California began in 1950 when he joined Crocker-Anglo's San Rafael main office as an assistant manager. In 1960 he was named assistant manager of the bank's Mill Valley office.

A member of the American Institute of Banking, Brylka is a past treasurer of the Marin Cancer Society and of the Federal Services Campaign. Medina had 21 years of banking experience in California before joining Crocker-Anglo in March, 1957. He served as a trainee at various offices of the bank in San Francisco until September, 1958, when he was appointed chief clerk at the Potrero office there. In July, 1959, Medina entered Crocker-Anglo's administrative training program and, upon completion of that advanced training, was named assistant manager of the Potrero office.

The new Westlake office will be Crocker-Anglo's second office in Daly City and its fifth in San Mateo County, the other Daly City office being located in the Skyline Plaza shopping center. The bank currently operates 119 offices in 73 California communities, ranging from Yreka in the north to Santa Barbara in the south.

lished area rather than having tall transmitting structures in several locations.

The possibility has been expressed by Crocker Land Co. officials that, if the tower application is approved, facilities could be added to the structure to make it a tourist attraction. This would involve the installation of an elevator and a platform near the top similar to the Seattle World Fair's Space Needle. The mountain offers an exciting and unobstructed view of the entire Bay Area.

This feature would tie in with plans expressed by owners of the property for a vista highway running along the San Bruno mountain ridge.

OCTOBER STORM LOSS

The October 12 storm blew down more than 10 billion feet of timber in Northern California, Oregon and Washington, according to forest product industry estimates.

Salvage logging started immediately after the storm to head off damage by Douglas fir bark beetles, which could make much of the downed timber worthless.

Ten Oregon state forest look-outs were blown down by the storm.

DC Postmaster Urges Public To Mail Holiday Cards Early

The Daly City Post Office has many additional responsibilities as well as numerous extra services to offer the public during the 1962 Christmas season. Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy said in issuing an especially urgent appeal to the public to mail early.

For use during the Christmas rush, the Post Office Department is offering this year a new 4-cent Christmas stamp for sale, and is preparing for new postage rates starting January 7, Murphy explained.

"And so we really need public cooperation at this time," Postmaster Murphy said.

Commenting on the rates, he observed that in a period of high-cost living when one exercises care in expenditures for goods and services, the U. S. Mail service still remains the No. 1 communications bargain.

Reminding area citizens of the forthcoming new postal rate structure effective January 7, the Postmaster listed these highlights of the rate legislation enacted recently by Congress.

The increase over which the "man in the street" is most concerned is the one-cent hike in letter rates.

First class mail: surface—letters, five cents an ounce; postal and post cards, four cents. Air: letters, eight cents; post cards, six cents.

Included in the "first class" category is the so-called "drop letter." The rate will go from three cents to four cents an ounce. Postal regulations designate this type of mail as letters "dropped" at a post office by the sender and picked up by the addressee at the same post office. It is used mostly by patrons in rural areas where mail delivery service is not available and mail is picked up at the post office.

Often thought of by the user as "first class" but actually in "third class" category are greeting cards. Used mostly at Christmas time, this type of mail will cost four cents when

Angelo Furioli Returns to States

Angelo D. Furioli, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dante Furioli of 289 West View drive, South San Francisco, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Rupert, which is scheduled to return to San Francisco before Christmas after spending two and a half years in the Western Pacific.

The Rupert has been home-ported at Yokosuka, Japan, since May, 1960, as a unit of American seapower abroad. The ship was part of the Seventh Fleet, which is composed of more than 100 ships that are used to meet United States commitments in the Far East.

San Francisco will be the ship's base while she receives modernization under the Navy's extensive FRAM (Fleet Rehabilitation and Modernization) program.

It's News To Vets

Q—Has there been a recent change in the priorities for VA hospitalization?

A—Yes. Under a new law, the peacetime veteran with non-compensable service-connected disability now has the same eligibility for VA medical care as the wartime veterans with non-compensable service-connected disability.

Q—I have been getting drugs from my local pharmacy under the VA hometown pharmacy program. Will I be affected by changes I hear are being made in this program?

A—No. The changes involve billing procedures under which VA pays the pharmacies. Veterans will continue to go to their local pharmacies for services under the program.

Q—What new hospitals does the Veterans Administration have under construction, and when will they be completed?

A—New, replacement hospitals being built by the VA and their schedule of completion are: Cleveland, Ohio, fall of 1963; Martinez, Calif., spring of 1963; Nashville, Tenn., early 1963; Washington, D. C., fall of 1963; Wood, Wis., early 1965.

At first appearance, Bob Smith seems like any other intelligent young man his age. The handsome, 25-year-old Santa Clara man has the usual sharp quips, a keen sense of humor and that twinkling gleam of excitement in his eyes.

It may be this latter trait, which prevails a little stronger in Bob than in most young men his age. For each Sunday afternoon at various dragstrips around California, Washington, Oregon and Nevada, Smith races towards death at 240 miles per hour.

Young Bob Smith is the adventurous type, that is for sure. The Iowa-born lad is the pilot of the "Untouchable," a jet-powered dragster which currently holds the world's quarter-mile speed record at 244 miles per hour in 6.5 seconds.

Unlike many other men who work for a living and are apathetic, Bob has developed more than a financial affinity towards his job. "It is a job that I really enjoy," says the quiet mannered fellow. "I got lucky and my sport turned into a full time job," he adds.

Smith started driving dragsters in 1956 in Southern California. Two years ago he started to drive professionally. And it was six months ago, following the death of Glenn Leashure at the Bonneville Salt Flats in a similar jet racer, that Smith took over the wheel of the jet dragster. Leashure had been the only other driver of the auto up until the time of his unfortunate death.

The "Untouchable" is 30 feet long and is powered by a 24 foot F-86 Sabre Jet dynamo. The unusual machine hits speeds of 244 miles per hour in 6.5 seconds when he has a good run. Smith says that the car could reach 400 miles per hour in 15 seconds if he kept the throttle stick open, but the wheels would disintegrate long before he attained that speed. Builder of the auto is Romeo Palamides, who has a custom engine and speed shop at the new Oakland Airport.

The auto, if you can call it that, uses 20 gallons of either diesel or hot fighter fuel for each run down the asphalt strip. Smith usually makes three runs at each strip.

In order to drive the huge piece of turbo power, Smith had to pass the Federal Aviation Agency's test for jet pilot.

Smith said that it isn't the acceleration which causes the pressure, as much as the de-acceleration. When the car is de-accelerating, Smith experiences forces amounting from two to three G's. The auto has 10,000 pounds of thrust and Palamides and Smith are working on the car to get it up to 260 miles per hour in 5.5 seconds.

"The biggest problem is stopping it," says Smith. Brakes are useless in the dragster until it has decreased in speed to 100 miles per hour. Smith uses two parachutes to stop, which takes him anywhere from one-quarter to three-eighths of a mile past the finish line.

When Palamides first built the car, he found that several parts needed for it were not on the surplus market. In order to obtain these parts, Palamides had to write a personal letter to President Kennedy explaining his need. Kennedy replied and he was able to pick up the much-needed parts at a Tucson Military stock terminal.

Smith has made about 40 runs with the dragster since climbing in the iron six months ago. Last Sunday he appeared at Half Moon Bay drag strip and turned in a mediocre time of 208 in the quarter.

This Sunday, hoping for better conditions, he plans to better his record set at Henderson, Nevada, five weeks ago, when he goes post-ward at the Cotati Drag strip across the Bay in Marin county.

Smith's desire for speed doesn't stop at driving the world's fastest dragster. He and Palamides have hopes of obliterating the existing World's land speed record of 394 miles per hour.

Palamides is currently working on a jet powered auto, much like the dragster, which Smith will drive at the Bonneville Salt Flats sometime next year. The car will be equipped with aluminum wheels to withstand the pressure of speed.

Smith believes that their car will go over 500 miles per hour and he will be the first human to break the sound barrier on land.

And we kind of believe him. If anybody can do it, Smith can. He possesses the two best requisites for that type of game: a love and a desire of speed. So if you want to see a man who is going places, real fast, drop by Cotati Drag Strip this Sunday afternoon.

ON THE SIDELINES . . . South SF's Art Olson, son of former middleweight champ Carl "Bobo" Olson, grabbed the top honors in the regional Pass, Kick, and Punt contest at Kezar last Sunday.

Another winner from South SF was Dennis Axell, who won the ten year old division. Last year young Pete Saco from the Industrial City copped the National Title.

Jeff, Rams Ready For Cage Season

With the football cleats hung in the closet and the shoulder pads stacked in some dark corner for another year, the North Peninsula prep scene switches to the roundball antics of basketball.

Already the local schools have started developing their 1962-63 cage teams and have engaged in several games. Both Westmoor and Jefferson, two of the predicted better teams of the North Peninsula League, have engaged in practice games. Westmoor lost their only outing to Lincoln of San Francisco 53-42 last week, while Coach Mike Orlich's Indians were dropping two tune-ups, losing to strong Poly 51-33 and bowing to AAA contender Balboa 41-31.

The Rams, coached by Tony Giamonna, get another stiff test this afternoon, at 3:15 p.m., when they host Balboa of San Francisco. Jefferson travels up the street to Mission high school tomorrow afternoon, December 13, for a 3:15 p.m. encounter with Mission High School.

Both teams will see action over the Christmas Holidays in the North Area's two top prep tournaments. Jefferson has accepted a bid to play in the Palo Alto tournament. The Indians open up with South Peninsula Athletic League favorite Cumberly Wednesday night, December 19.

Westmoor heads north to the Rioridan Invitational, where they will open up against Serra

High School Thursday night, December 20. Other tournament pairings will find St. Ignace meeting Galileo, Capuchino taking on always tough Sacred Heart, and San Carlos meeting host team Rioridan.

Both coaches Orlich and Giamonna predict that the NPL, which opens January 18, will be a toss-up between Westmoor, Jefferson, South City, and possibly Terra Nova. "It will be an interesting league," said Orlich. "We'll be tough if we can start shooting with a little more accuracy," the famed Jeff mentor added.

"It looks like it will be anybody's league," replied Giamonna. "We have a fair team, but lack experience. I would have to term this a rebuilding year for us," Giamonna concluded. Jefferson is paced by veterans Dan Boden and Larry Keeling. Boden, at 6-3 1/2, is one of the top forwards in the North Peninsula. Keeling, returning to his guard post, is an even six feet. Although Orlich hasn't found a definite combination yet, the current top five is filled out with center Larry Jones, at six feet; 6-6 1/2 inch forward Steve Willis, up from the lightweights, and guard Skip Del Sarto, also up from last year's lights.

Others expected to see plenty of action are: Mark Perry, forward, 6-0; Terry Mendoza, forward, 5-11; Jerry Sullivan, center, 6-4; Wayne Stoller, guard, 5-6; Tom Greene, guard, 5-10; George Presley, center, 6-4; Stan Kinaka, forward, 6-0; Jerry Franco, forward, 6-3 Mike Scatena, guard, 5-11, and Terry Piccardo, guard, 5-10.

Orlich also stated that he might switch Boden to center and put Jones at guard with Keeling, or put Del Sarto and Stoller in at guards.

Over at the hilltop campus of Westmoor, Giamonna is hard-pressed for experience with only one starter returning. Steve Schmuck, 1962 NPL football "Player of the Year," will form the nucleus of the 1962-63 squad. Schmuck is a 5-10 guard. One other letterman graces the Ram contingent. He is John Kelly, 6-2, a reserve center from last year's squad.

Filling out the current starting five are forwards Lee Graf, 6-2, and Mike Morrison, 5-8, and guard Tito Torres, 5-10. Both Morrison and Torres are up from last year's lightweight squad.

Others expected to see plenty of action are: Forward Bill Broughton, 6-3 1/2, a transfer from Hawaii; center Kevin Burke, 6-1, up from the lights; Steve Guerrattaz, 6-1 guard, also from the 30's; 6-3 sophomore Dave Williams; Larry Siegel; Harvey Thompson; 6-2 center Rich Davis; freshmen Ross Davis and Jerry Deschler; Lincoln transfer Rich Harter, and Rioridan transfer Bill Bince. The latter two won't be eligible until the second half of the season.

Daly City Cage Clinic Termed Huge Success

The San Francisco State College varsity basketball team demonstrated the outstanding caliber of teaching skills to local youngsters at the Daly City Recreation Department's basketball clinic last Saturday.

Players of the Gator team took several hundred Daly City youngsters through 13 different basketball skills. Youngsters were divided into groups of fifteen and taught everything from the hookshot to the rules of basketball.

Varsity players gave the groups demonstration and explanation, then practice and correction. After an opportunity to gain an understanding of the skill and develop the muscular pattern, the children moved to the next group.

One of the outstanding features of the clinic was the rules explanation by coach Paul Rundell. Many of the adults in attendance made it a point to hear Rundell impart the rules to the children.

To those hearing his dynamic presentation of the rules, it was obvious that Paul Rundell is, in addition to being an outstanding college basketball

SF Giants Release Training Schedule

The Giants 1963 spring training schedule, released at Candlestick Park last week, features a week long exhibition tour through the California League and northern California Valley areas. With the Cleveland Indians as playing partners, the nine game tour series will carry the Giants up to the inaugural of the National League season on April 9.

The trip, reviving a many year custom, will present the Giants in games at San Diego, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, Fresno, Modesto, Stockton, Sacramento enroute to the National League opener at Houston on April 9. The Giants' home opener at Candlestick Park is scheduled for Tuesday, April 16, also against Houston.

The Giants will again inaugurate their spring training program at Casa Grande, this time on Friday, February 22, when the battermen will go into action for the first time under Al Dark's direction. The remaining members of the forty player squad will begin work

It's SPARE TIME at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Saturday night, December 15, will be "Tavern Night" at Westlake in the News Call Bulletin Tournament. Over fifty tavern and restaurant sponsored teams will be represented on the squad that will start bowling at 7 p.m. Reservations may be made at the Bowl desk. Last year over two hundred bowlers participated.

Popular league secretary Joe Maurino was seen passing out cigars last week as he announced the birth of a son. With four children on hand, Joe needs only one more to form his own bowling team.

Anita Del Campo and Jim Marston led the way in the 99ers Mixed Fives last week as Jim topped the six hundred mark by three pins on a high game of 226. Anita's best game was 188, giving her a 512 series.

Chief of Police Petrocchi would like to "borrow four pins" to gain membership in the 600 Club. Last week he led the Daly City Employees League with a big 249 game and 596 series.

Two new leaders in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives were Shirley Back with 154 and 448 and Max King with a 553 series on a high game of 202.

Mildred Garrett has found Tuesday to be her best bowling day. Last week in the Tea Timers League, she shot games of 184-170-167 for a 521 series. Top split converters were Marvel Simpson who picked up the 4-10 and Eleanor Torrigino who made the difficult 2-5-7.

Another 521 series was posted by Maureen Cano as she led the Tuesday morning Y.W.C.A. League on games of 176-153-192. In this league, Gerry Klotz converted the 5-10 split.

It will be "Welcome San Francisco Coaches Association" next Friday as almost 100 school coaches will hold their annual Bowling Buffet here. With bowling scheduled for 3:30 p.m. followed by a buffet was 203.

South San Francisco Judoists Win At Sacramento Invitation Tourney

Willy Cahill of South San Francisco earned a second-place trophy at the Sacramento Invitational Tournament of the Northern California Judo Belt Federation over the week end.

Cahill earned his spot with a win by throw and a tie in the 180-pound Black Belt class. In an invitational match, the winner remains on the mat until tied or beaten.

In the heavy weight class, Fred Cahill of San Bruno chalked up a win and a loss, showing strength in mat work.

Both compete for Cahill Judo Academy of South San Francisco and San Mateo.

In the Brown Belt class, Phil Lara made his most impressive showing of the new judo season with two wins by throws and a loss. Joe Benetti registered a draw and Joe Souza lost. All are from South San Francisco.

Ted DeBoer of San Mateo, making his first start as a White Belt, showed class with a win by throw, then dropped a decision; Mel Untalan of Colma tied.

Six junior members of the north county school also showed form.

Eddie Randolph of Woodside scored three wins by throws and a loss; his brother Dick, dropped one; George Koetke of San Mateo drew; Tom Alvey, South San Francisco, won one bout and drew; and Kelly Condon, Millbrae; and Robbie Wieher, South San Francisco, each lost.

CSM Wrestlers Go For 4th Win

The home wrestling season begins for College of San Mateo Friday as the Bulldogs hope to be as successful at Coyote Point as they have been on the road to date in posting a "perfect" 3-0 record.

Herb Hudson's grapplers stayed at the head of the Golden Gate conference race Friday night by edging San Jose, 20-14.

Mrs. Douglas Leone won the Class "C" division with a neat 48-18 1/2 — 29 1/2. Second was Mrs. Al Sereni with a net 33 1/2. Mrs. Charles Sargent finished third with a net 34.

USF Frosh Vs CSM Friday

Still undefeated after dumping Hartnell, 42-32, last Saturday, College of San Mateo gets its toughest basketball test of the young season in double barreled action this weekend.

The Bulldogs host the likewise undefeated University of San Francisco freshman Friday evening at Coyote Point in an 8 o'clock game. Then they travel to Sacramento Saturday to meet Valley conference power Sacramento.

USF has what Don coach Phil Vukicevic labels as the "best frosh in the school's history." Considering USF's past athletic history—including the Bill Russell-K. C. Jones era—that's quite a statement. "We play a 23 game schedule and shouldn't lose more than two or three games," Vukicevic predicts.

San Francisco possesses three All-Northern California prep stars. However the best of the three, Nor-Cal Player of the Year Joe Ellis from McClymonds, is currently sidelined with a dislocated elbow. He won't return to action for another two weeks—a definite boost to San Mateo chances Friday evening.

Russ Cumina, 6-1 guard and San Francisco Player of the Year at Sacred Heart last year, and Erwin Mueller, 6-8 forward from Livermore high, make Ellis' absence hardly felt though. Cumina is the USF scoring leader with 69 points in four games, a 17.3 average while Mueller is next with 45 digits.

The Dons were hardly pushed in downing their own JC squad, San Francisco State's JV's and Contra Costa but ran into trouble against the California freshmen Saturday night before pulling out a one point victory, 47-46.

Friday's game may well be settled on the backboards as both schools have tall teams. USF, with 6-9 W. C. Fortenberry playing the center post, has a starting line-up averaging 6-4 1/2 with a 6-7 front line. San Mateo's starters average 6-3 with a 6-4 1/2 front line. Both squads have outgained their foes thus far this season.

Terra Nova Coach Honored At College San Mateo Awards Banquet

College of San Mateo held their annual Winter Awards Banquet at Coyote Point Monday night, with seven youths and a high school coach gaining recognition.

In football Fred Opezzo walked off with the "Most Valuable Player" award. The "President's Trophy," awarded by Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, went to Quarterback Rick Norman. Halfback Clarence Hamel was given the "Most Outstanding Player" award.

CSM's first grid coach, Murius McFadden awarded the "Most Improved Player" trophy to Duane Ahern. Other football awards went to Willie Holman and John Scott, members of Coach Doug Scovill's second place grid team.

In Cross Country, coach Bernie Wagner awarded the "Most Valuable Runner" trophy to Jim Huff, the Golden Gate Conference Champion.

Also receiving an award was Terra Nova High School cross country coach Dennis Lanterman. Lanterman was given the "Outstanding Contributive Coach" award. Three of his former Tiger runners were stars for Wagner at CSM this year.

Gator Cagers Go On Eastern Swing

The remaining days in December will find San Francisco State College's basketball team on a 7,500-mile scenic tour of the nation's Midwest, Northwest and South. The Gators' three early-season defeats still leaves the locals' cage fortunes up in the air as head coach Paul Rundell takes his players up against seven cage opponents between December 13 and December 29.

The S.F. State opponents are as follows: Valparaiso University (Thursday, Dec. 13), Western Michigan (Saturday, Dec. 15), Murray State (Tuesday, Dec. 18), Eastern Montana Christmas Tournament (Friday and Saturday, Dec. 21 and 22), which includes SFSC, Eastern Montana, Gonzaga, North Texas State; San Diego State (Friday, Dec. 28), and Los Angeles State (Saturday, Dec. 29).

The Gators, who looked surprisingly strong in their 52-43 overtime defeat to San Jose State, will go with the following starters: Guards—Mike Carson and Dave Roberts; forwards—Brad Duggan and Jim Cunningham; and center Mahlon Hammon.

Daly City Boy Graduates From Naval Jet School

Joseph M. Rossio, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rossio of 423 91st St., Daly City, graduated Nov. 29, from Aviation Machinist's Mate School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn., after completing a course on jet engines.

The eight-week course covers the installation, operation, and maintenance of jet engines used in naval aviation. Students disassemble and rebuild a jet engine during the course. Before entering the school, students must complete classroom instruction on basic mechanics and aviation familiarization.

Westlake, SSF Choirs In Christmas Concert

An Advent-Christmas choral concert will be presented on December 16 at 7:30 p. m. at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church, Southwood drive and El Camino Real in South San Francisco by Our Redeemer's and Westlake adult choirs.

Jay Spoonheim, student at Pacific Theological Lutheran Seminary in Berkeley, will direct the 35-voice choir.

Christmas music and choral anthems will include Paul Christiansen, F. M. Christiansen, J. S. Bach, Katherine K. Davis and Philipp Nicolai.

Soloists for the concert will be Mrs. Bob Scott, Mrs. Bert Smith, Mrs. John Maleck, Bob Hall and Mrs. Maurice Turner.

CHRISTMAS TREES
More than three million Christmas trees will be sold in California this year, making the state the best Christmas tree marketing area in the country, forest industry sources estimate.

About 98 per cent will come from natural stands of forest-growth trees; the balance will come from about 5,000 acres which are planted for Christmas tree production.

PAL Tigers Upset PAL Rams, 21-0

Coach George Pedroni of the PAL Tigers must really have the secret on how to give a pep talk to a team. The Tigers fell victim to the PAL Rams 21-0 in their early season meeting. Then with the Rams going through the season with a perfect record and the Tigers winning their subsequent games, they met in the play-offs.

The Tigers led by aggressive Jeff Meitz took revenge on the Rams with a 21-0 clanging. Jeff Meitz was the hero as he caught Ram ball carriers behind their goal line four times to score 8 points for his team. Meitz' accomplishment was aided by the powerful rushing of Mike Wynne and Norman Garcia. These three boys put so much pressure on Ram backfield men they could only find their pass runners twice in the whole game. The Tiger defensive backfield intercepted 10 Ram passes. Steve Shoff picked off four, while Jerry Neary and Nick Kosturos each collected three.

While the defense took the starring role in the play-off game, the Tiger offense was putting out all the way. Joe Farrell hit Mike Wynne on a 21 yard pass play for a TD. Farrell hit Wynne with another pass for the PAT. Mike Miller accounted for the other Tiger TD with a 24 yard run.

Santa Clara Boat Show Taking Advance Entries

Advance registrations for space in the fifth annual Santa Clara Valley Boat, Sports and Travel Show, January 18-20 at the County Fairgrounds in San Jose, indicate the event will be the largest ever staged in this area. Bob Barkheimer, manager, announced this week.

Entries have come in from major boat manufacturer outlets in Monterey, Oakland, San Clara, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara and San Jose. Barkheimer said, with all types of craft from rowboats to sailboats to cabin cruisers to be displayed.

Theme of the sports portion of the show will be winter and water sports equipment and apparel. Motion pictures and slides of skindiving and underwater adventure, plus films of auto racing, will be shown.

In the travel category, trailers for camping, hauling boats and permanent living will be on display as part of the show, which this year is presented in conjunction with the annual Autorama, a galaxy of custom-built and antique automobiles.

Entertainment specials will include the Santa Clara County Bowmen's Association exhibitions of archery skills, the Sheryn Martin Aloha Nani Dancers with their "Boat Show Hula" and other dances, Capt. Ernie Wolder and his trained seals which have been the hit of past shows, the third annual Central California Weightlifting championships, skin diving demonstrations and other events.

Safety in boating will be stressed at this year's show with the U. S. Coast Guard and other groups displaying safety equipment and accessories which are either required by law or are desirable for family-group boating.

Miss Donna Marie Slodki, "Miss Cupertino" in recent county competition, will be the theme girl for the 1963 boat show. The attractive Foothill College student will appear on the stage and at exhibits during the three-day show.

Oh, dear, there's only 13 shopping days left until Christmas... don't panic, just dash up to SKYLINE PLAZA SHOPPING CENTER where you'll find something for everyone left on your list.

For instance, just in at SKYLINE HARDWARE is a new line of imported ornamental glass vases in deep ruby, amber, amethyst... good buy, too, on imported crystal salt and pepper shakers (regularly $3.98) selling for 1.49.

Always a welcome and unusual gift, too... Imported candles and cookies... MAGIC CHEF PANTRY has a good selection from England, Switzerland, Holland, France... surprising low priced, too, none higher than $1.49 for a box.

Did you know there is a special styrofoam paint? SKYLINE PLAZA PAINT has it... also don't forget they have glitter and glue for those last minute packages.

Brilliant Christmas red or snow white poinsettia plants... a most wonderful Christmas gift idea! JOE'S NURSERY has them from two up to ten blossoms, Christmas wrapped in red or green foil... Their spacious new store (Hillside Boulevard in Colma) is open seven days a week until 6 o'clock.

Books are always a welcome gift... for the youngsters why not a beautifully bound and illustrated set of "The World We Live In" science series... found at SAFEWAY, only $3.87 for three volumes.

Festive holiday parties call for glamorous hair styles... Mr. Bob of Dancing Hair Beauty Salon (3631 Lawton, just a short drive from the local area) is an expert at creating dramatic hair styles or if you prefer more conservative... telephone him at MO 1-4300... their other salon is at 1637 Ocean, telephone JU 7-3135.

Discovered for the little miss on your list, the most adorable petti-pants at PENNEYS... dainty lace trim, pastels including buttercup yellow and white... only $1.99... also short soft bouffants and lovely half-slips.

From the "what won't they think of next department" child's typewriter (really types) only $9.77... for junior "hot-rod" fully assembled go kart, automatic starter, $9.63 from WALGREENS, P.S. Be sure to read their "Times" ad this week for good buys on Christmas trees, for instance 7 ft. one with free color wheel, $29.95.

Welcome to APPLIANCE SERVICE CENTER, conveniently located in Winston Manor Shopping Center... owner-manager is David Vickrey. Reminder, if you've been thinking about a colored TV set for Christmas they have a generous trade-in (up to $100) for your old black and white set.

The welcome mat is out too, for the new owners (who are now operating the store) of WESTLAKE STATIONERS, well known Daly City residents, Frank Pacelli, Michael DeBernardi and Frank Monte... the store is conveniently located in the Westlake Shopping Center at 327 South Mayfair.

TOP ARTISTS—Bob Steinfeld, 13 (left), of 4 Westdale avenue, and Fred Sunderlund, 13, of 7 Huntington, both of Benjamin Franklin School, show teacher Mrs. Barbara Fletcher posters which won them the top eighth grade awards in the Daly City Fire Department Fire Prevention Poster Contest.

Christmas Bureau Needs Contributions

A nine year old boy, ill all his life, is at last well enough to go outdoors and play. His one great dream is riding the bicycle his father has promised him. However, the father has suddenly lost his long-time job and there is no indication he will find another one. The boy and his family, also in urgent need of clothing, and known as Case 1-B in the files of the Community Christmas Bureau, face a bleak Christmas.

A grandmother and her 15-year-old grandson, comprising another San Mateo County family, known as Case 1-C, are without funds to purchase the grandmother necessary eyeglasses, a medical alert ID bracelet, or the boy a sports jacket, necessary for winter warmth.

These are typical of cases screened by social welfare agencies, for which the Christmas Bureau is conducting its annual drive. In spite of money already received by the bureau, needs of families this year are overwhelming, declared Mrs. Schultz, bureau chairman, and exceeds those of last year. She stated there is a great shortage among the needy cases for warm, practical clothing, bedding, beds, cribs, high-chairs and other necessary furniture.

Mrs. Schultz stressed that individuals, clubs and other organizations desiring a Christmas project may contact her through Christmas Bureau headquarters, Naval Reserve Training Center, Baldwin avenue and San Mateo drive, San Mateo, telephone 342-4381, or by writing the bureau in care of P. O. Box 49, San Mateo. Information will also be supplied by the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose road, Burlingame. Mrs. Schultz is making an appeal for public response to the drive with donations of orders for money and merchandise so that every San Mateo County needy family will enjoy a happy Christmas.

YOUR CHRISTMAS GIFT STORES

From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

"Happy Holidays" was the theme and there was a definite festive feeling in the air as a large throng attended the ninth annual standard flower show of the Daly City Garden Club in the War Memorial Center.

From fragrant roses in bud vases to dramatic Christmas centerpieces, the whole display was most impressive.

Even the small fry got into the act with a whole section devoted to junior entries. Included were original creations by children from ages four and up.

A nearby fireplace was covered with Christmas stockings of many unusual and clever designs — bells, trees, ribbons, berries.

Each section was cleverly marked by a glitter star so it was very easy to recognize the various displays.

We think such a show is splendid to gather inspiration for your holiday decorations. If you didn't get a chance to stop by this year, be sure to go next year because it is an annual affair.

Certainly deserving of being community leader this week is Mrs. Joseph Kusber, who is now serving her second term as president of the Daly City Garden Club.

A resident of the area for eight years, she has also devoted many hours of service to other organizations. She is on the executive board of the Salvation Army; a member of the San Francisco Fuchsia Society, and has worked on every fund drive held in the area.

She served as president of the Jefferson High School PTA for two years and was awarded a life membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Kusber live at 60 Werner avenue. Their daughter, Linda Ruth Mayer, is attending college in San Diego.

Help! Help! Help! Well, it is not quite that bad, but almost. The Village Play School has just received official notice that they must vacate their present building by January 7. The fathers are working long hours trying to get the new school ready, but they are in need of professional building advice. If you feel you could spare a few minutes to assist a worthy community organization, telephone Eric Bergstraum at PL 5-2531.

SOCIAL WHIRL: The tables were beautiful with original holiday centerpieces made by PTA board members. The cafeteria was filled to capacity as the Westmoor PTA held its annual chicken dinner Saturday night. A feast it was, followed by an exciting basketball game between the seniors and the faculty.

Holiday decor, too, as the YWCA held its annual "Christmas Fashions on the Lanes" last Thursday at Westlake Bowl with a large group of women in attendance.

HOLLY AND BELLS: Christmas parties are still in full swing with many scheduled for the next couple of weeks.

Immaculate Conception Mothers' Guild annual Christmas party will be held on Dec. 18 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. President Mrs. Edward Funk is in charge of arrangements.

Holiday festivities too at the Lion's Club meeting on December 12 when the annual Christmas party and "Ladies Day" is held. Chairman of the program is Lion Fred Goodell.

The Senior Citizens group of Westlake will hold their annual Christmas party on the 19th.

Down South San Francisco Way the Serra Highlands Improvement association is making plans for a gala children's party to be held Dec. 16 at Alta Loma School. Preceding the party Old St. Nick himself will lead a motorcade presenting lollipops to children along the way. A full evening's entertainment is planned with caroling by Dick and Rosemary Mulligan and dancing by Diane's Dance School.

FASHION HINT: High fashion news for informal at-home holiday entertaining is jeweled sweaters topping sleek trousers. If your budget won't stretch, just tack jeweled trim on your favorite sweater and wear it over black capris. To make festive holiday aprons tack jewels or felt bells, holly, Santas over pocket of a plain nylon apron.

NEWS BRIEFS: It was an 8th holiday get-together for a group of localites celebrating at Uncle John's Pancake House in Millbrae. Attending were the Mike Carrs, Jim Davisons, Bill Parkers, Ken Gillespies and mesdames Emma D'Isep, Eleanor Carle, Lillian Fletcher, Willie Harrison, Ruth Rogers, Jenny Berg, Mary Grant and Hanna Gibson.

Christmas caroling and a sumptuous chuck wagon breakfast for Penney employees last Saturday morning at Westlake Bowl. Special gifts and awards too in keeping with the tradition of the holiday season. Master of ceremonies was debonair Earle Swanson.

Hostesses for a coffee-dessert at the YWCA office was the Area committee of North San Mateo County.

Expected home for the holidays Allene Downey Nickolson from Baltimore to visit her parents the Rev. Allen J. Downeys.

Recent house guest of the Don Davis family was father William T. Davis from Spokane.

College students home for the holidays, relatives visiting, parties, do let us hear about your plans. Drop a note to Feminine Viewpoint, Westlake Times, 3317 San Jose Avenue, Daly City.

Seventeenth District P.T.A. Presidents Honored At Tea

By Bunny Gillespie

Red berries, holiday wreaths and gaily burning Christmas candles were used in profusion as decorations Wednesday as the Parent-Teacher Association unit presidents of San Mateo County were honored at tea by Mrs. L. E. Engleman of Redwood City, president of the 17th District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Setting for the "Appreciation Tea" was the Sequoia Region Red Cross Chapter House in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Engleman presided over the beautifully appointed tea table, with the assistance of many of the chairmen of various school district co-ordinating committees.

Helping her to receive guests and distribute small favors was Mrs. Joel L. Yaeger of San Carlos, who serves 17th District as director of Education.

Mrs. Yaeger was also in charge of the signing, by each attendee, of a luncheon friendship cloth, which will be presented to Mrs. Engleman after further embellishment. On display at the "Friendship Table" was a unique earring tree, standing approximately four feet tall and decorated entirely with dangle-earrings, but topped with a jeweled pin.

Also greeting friends was Mrs. Engleman's daughter Mrs.

Red Cross Home Nursing Class to Start On Coast

A Red Cross home nursing course of ten sessions will be given in Half Moon Bay starting Jan. 14, 1963. The course will be given in the evening, at one of the Coastside schools.

Advance registration is being taken for the class through the Public Health Nurse's office in Half Moon Bay, RA 6-4819.

Instructor for the course, which covers basic elements of home nursing with emphasis on care of a convalescent patient, a sick child, and disaster preparedness, will be Mrs. Joann Dickworth, R.N., assistant director for nursing services of the Golden Gate Chapter of Red Cross.

Richard Aldrich, a Stanford student.

The massive tea-table, centered with a huge gold wreath and red and green candle arrangements, was placed close to a large Christmas tree before the windows opening onto the Chapter House patio. A large modernistic arrangement of red berries also added to the delight of the many guests partaking of edibles and potables.

Among those asked to pour were Mrs. Thomas West, chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District co-ordinating committee and Mrs. C. E. Thompson of the South San Francisco co-ordinating group. DeAntoni of San Bruno, Mrs. Lou Lorenz of Laguna Salada, Mrs. Charles Calvert of Millbrae, Mrs. William W. Shanks of Ravenswood, Mrs. Warren Settlemyer of Belmont, Mrs. Daniel Shiells of San Carlos, Mrs. W. E. Ronan of San Mateo, Mrs. Douglas Murray of Redwood City and Mrs. Robert Atkins of Menlo Park.

In addition, Mrs. Ralph Todd of Menlo Park and Mrs. Fred Baldrá of Burlingame were

Childrens Book Review For Library Friends-YWCA

The pre-Christmas book review meeting of the Friends of the Daly City Library will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Westlake Bowl and will feature children's books again this year, an event which is becoming traditional with the organization.

Mrs. Jean Bishop, Children's Librarian for the Richmond City Library, will present a wide variety of books available in the field of children's literature.

Mrs. Bishop has established a splendid reputation for her interesting reviews and speaks with the authority of broad experience in recommending specific books for particular ages and interests.

A graduate of San Jose State College and the Library School of the University of California, Mrs. Bishop is a former newspaper writer and she served for nine years as executive secretary of the California Library Association.

Her wide interest in youth activities brought her an invitation to participate in a White House Youth Conference, in addition to participating in such a meeting at the State level. In 1945, the speaker was sent to the Philippines to help organize school libraries for children under the American Veterans Overseas program.

Her talents also extend to puppeteering.

For her presentation before the Friends of the Daly City Library and the YWCA, who co-sponsor the monthly book review meetings, Mrs. Bishop plans to discuss some of the books for children published during Children's Book Week in November. Among them will be: "The Dragon in the Clock Box" by Craig, "The Sun is a Golden Earring" by Belting and "Ghostly Gallery" by Hitchcock.

The reviews are regularly presented at the Westlake Bowl, with free nursery service provided to parents as a courtesy of the management. A coffee hour is also provided by the Bowl management, preceding the program. Participating this month also, as a sponsor, is Norman's Kingdom of Toys in Westlake. Books suitable for holiday giving are to be found in the store's book department. Another sponsor for December is Hunt's Do-Nut Shop in Westlake.

All interested area residents are cordially invited to attend.

"Kwashiorkor" (Protein Deficiency) is a critical health threat to children in Sierra Leone. Contributions to the CARE Food Crusade, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, California, provide a daily nutritious lunch for 60,000 primary pupils in the new African nation.

YWCA Swimming Classes For Pre-School Mothers

For an early start on summer, mothers with pre-school children should know about the the YWCA weekly swimming classes, for which a session will begin in January.

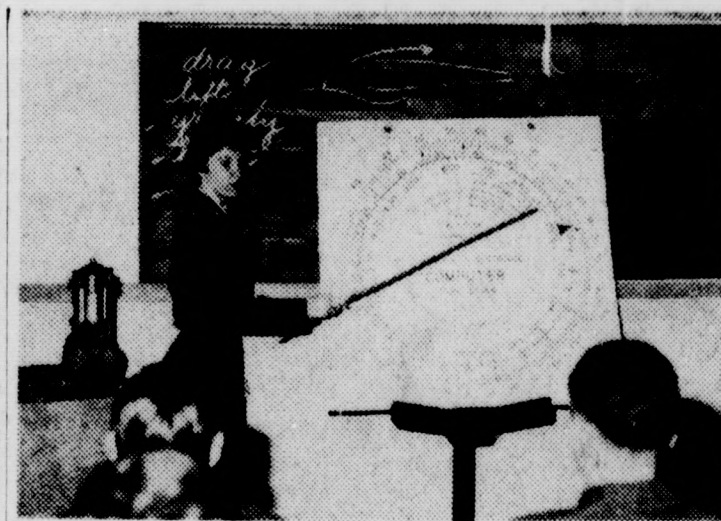

In this program, which is held at the Larson Pool, 19th avenue and Wawona in San Francisco, the mother accompanies the child in the water, unless the child is tall enough to stand in the pool by himself. The object of the half-hour classes is to learn water adjustment and safety, have fun without worry around the water.

Safety rules for water recreation will be taught by two expert instructors. The teacher, Mrs. Ermie Hummel, holds a Red Cross teaching certificate, and has been teaching swimming since 1955 at the YWCA, the Red Cross, and to boys' clubs and Campfire Girls. She has been an active volunteer in all these groups.

Mrs. Hummel's assistant, Mrs. Dean DeWitt, also holds a Red Cross teaching certificate. She has recently returned from the Philippine Islands, where she headed a YWCA swimming program.

For more information on the swimming schedule, which will be expanded for the next session, call the Y office, 375 South Mayfair, PLaza 6-7370. The fee is $5 for six lessons for both mother and child, plus a 35-cent pool fee each week.

SECOND LIEUTENANT Jeanette Adams of Westlake is shown here as she teaches the Civil Air Patrol cadets, she is a teacher at Lowell High School in civilian life.

Jeff Student Saluted As YWCA Volunteer

The North San Mateo County YWCA, always proud of its hard-working volunteers, is this month especially happy to salute one of its youngest regular volunteer workers. Dale Ann Heneise, of Daly City, a junior at Jefferson High School, works regularly at the Y office, 375 South Mayfair, answering the telephone, helping visitors, typing, filing, and doing one hundred and one odd and interesting jobs.

At Jefferson High she is majoring in Art and English and Dale puts both these studies to use in her Y activities. Last month she painted the large backdrop poster for the monthly YWCA "Thursday Girl" fashion show luncheon, which drew many compliments for concept and execution. This is an example of the kind of experience Y volunteers get in practicing their skills.

In addition to her YWCA activities, Dale is a Wing Scout, which is a branch of Girl Scouting, and is on the Senior Planning Board of the San Mateo County Girl Scouts.

Along with all these projects, Dale keeps up her school work and manages to squeeze in an active social life, too. She feels her volunteer work has prepared her for many situations and has broadened her horizons immeasurably. "The good feeling that comes from contributing time to a worthy cause is a wonderful reward for service," said Dale, "and besides, I have fun doing it."

Other girls in the community who would like to work with the YWCA, a national organization, will receive a warm welcome at the Y office, or may telephone PLaza 6-7370 for more information about the new Y-Teen clubs and volunteer activities.

CIVIL AIR PATROL SERVED BY WESTLAKE, PACIFICA RESIDENTS

What is the Civil Air Patrol? What does it do? These are the most commonly asked questions of CAP members.

The Civil Air Patrol is the Volunteer Civilian Auxiliary to the United States Air Force. CAP has three main missions: 1. The Air Search and Rescue missions; 2. Civic assistance (2.) in disaster or emergency; and (3) the Aerospace Education Program for boys and girls between the ages of 13 and 18.

The most important question that should be asked, however, is "Who is Civil Air Patrol?" CAP is made up of people, men and women and teen-agers just like the ones who live next door to you. The CAP hero of a dramatic air rescue may be your grocer, or your children's teacher. He may be a salesman or work in your office. The only time you can tell a CAP member from any one else is when he is in the Air Force Blue Uniform...or when he is working hard at saving a life.

WARRANT OFFICER Riley is acting as escort officer to a group of teen age boys who are touring the International Airport. Riley's interest in cadet activities keeps him on the hop. Working with these boys and girls convinced him that the youth of America is the true wealth of America.

nette Adams is the kind of an officer that makes things 'go'.

Likes Flying

Howard Adams, husband of second Lt. Jeanette Adams, has recently joined the squadron too. Perhaps it was the only way he could share this much of his wife's free time. He too, is learning a great enthusiasm for flying. These two people could be any couple in any apartment or court in Westlake. They are both engaged in learning a very important job...they are learning to save your lives, if the time should come when they might have to do just that.

First Aid Skill

Another example of the quiet hero of CAP is Richard W. Riley. You may know him as the quiet young bachelor who lives with his mother at 1205 South Mayfair in Westlake. He looks very much like any other Insurance Auditor, in his Ivy League business suit and his small foreign car. But on those nights of the week when he dons his Warrant Officer Uniform, he becomes something else. He uses his Navy Medical corps training as first aid officer and his professional skill makes him the squadron purse-holder or finance officer.

It is his job to try and make almost no money at all cover a hundred different items necessary to run an organization of over fifty people. As Civil Air Patrol is the only service organization of its type that does not have annual fund drives or ask for donations from the general public, finding money to buy text-books for the teenagers, paper for the hundreds of forms and letters, disaster supplies, first-aid equipment and many other items that keep the squadron running, is a job for a journeyman genie, and W/O Riley manages to keep the tottering books in the black.

Although he hopes with all his heart he may never have to use his skill as a Medic, he will be there to help you or your family if you should ever really need him.

These are some of the ordinary squadron members, but what kind of people make up the top level of "Big Brass" of

Olympia PTA To Hear Guidance Consultant

The second meeting of the Parent Enrichment Program will be held at the Olympia School, Friday, December 14, 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Ray Graber, guidance consultant for the Jefferson Elementary School District, will return to continue the study and discussion of emotional and social growth and development of children in their first year of school.

Graber will answer many of the questions which were submitted to him by the parents who attended the November 30 meeting.

Mrs. Robert Barr, Program Chairman, invites all interested parents to attend. The program is planned to give each parent an opportunity to ask questions and participate in an exchange of ideas.

Miguel New Master of Starr King Lodge

Ronald J. Miguel of 741 Higate Drive, Daly City, will be the new master of Starr King Lodge No. 344, F. & A. M., for 1963 following installation ceremonies on Wednesday evening, December 19, in the Masonic Temple, 25 Van Ness Avenue. Myron Rosenberg and Ben Weinstein will be the new senior and junior wardens, respectively.

Others to be installed are: Hal Curtis, treasurer; Arthur Salomon, secretary; Manuel Stern, chaplain; Edward H. Brown, senior deacon; Alvin M. Lesser, junior deacon; Leo Blum, marshal; Harold Cooper, senior steward; Samuel Sheff, junior steward and Samuel Taback, tiller.

Installing officer will be Alfred F. Breslauer, past grand master of Masons in California, with Loren Stritenberger as installing chaplain.

Master of ceremonies will be Haiman L. Wayne.

A banquet for over 500 members of the Lodge will complete the program.

CAP? At 1520 Sweetwood Dr. in Broadmoor lives Civil Air Patrol's Pacific Regional Headquarters chief of communications.

He is Lt. Colonel Ralph Wells who comes home with a car pool just like all the other Philco Employees, to his wife and five children, every day at six. He is the director for the CAP broadcasting network comprising hundreds of radio transmitters and receivers in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Alaska and Hawaii. His work is bossing Pacific Regions radio network has been directly responsible for the saving of over fifty lives in these states.

Unless you see him in uniform, he is just another family man who might live next door...except for an unusually tall antenna on his roof. This man too, is ready day or night, to help his community, his friends and his neighbors if they should ever face a disaster in his community.

These people really are CAP, they and others just like them from coast to coast 72,000 of your friends and neighbors are celebrating the 21st anniversary of the organization they serve, The Civil Air Patrol.

Booklets Available At SM County Heart Office

Many people tend to equate the term "heart disease" with "heart attack," but actually many different disorders affect the heart and circulatory system. Together, these cardiovascular diseases afflict more than 10 million Americans of all ages.

What these diseases are, how they can be controlled and what the prospects are for cure and prevention are discussed in a new booklet now available from the San Mateo County Heart Association.

Titled "Facts About Heart and Blood Vessel Diseases" and published by the American Heart Association, the free booklet is an up-to-date report on 17 of the most common types of cardiovascular disorders including those which affect the circulation in the legs, feet and arms (peripheral vascular diseases).

Taken together, the heart and blood vessel diseases are responsible for more than 54 per cent of all deaths each year in the United States. The booklet points out, however, that because of continuing advances in research and medical practice, many thousands of persons who receive adequate medical care can survive conditions considered hopeless only 20 years ago.

These are some of the cardiovascular disorders the booklet describes:

Atherosclerosis is a thickening and hardening of the lining of the arteries. In this condition a build-up of fatty deposits in the innermost layer of the arterial wall narrows the channel through which the blood flows. Atherosclerosis underlies many of the most serious cardiovascular disorders, including heart attacks and strokes. Its exact causes have not yet been pinpointed. Among the factors being explored are diet, exercise, stress, heredity and sex.

Heart attack, also described as coronary thrombosis, coronary occlusion and myocardial infarction, occurs when a section of the heart muscle is deprived of the blood it needs in order to do the work. The immediate cause may be the formation of a blood clot (thrombus) in a coronary artery that has been clogged by atherosclerosis. Sometimes the clogging alone may be responsible. Contrary to popular belief, many patients are able to return to work after recovery from a heart attack.

Stroke occurs when the blood supply to the brain is reduced or cut off. Depending on how great an area of the brain on which its nerve cells are affected, there may be paralysis of some parts of the body. Physical therapy or surgery may be used to help recovery. Cerebral thrombosis, cerebral embolism and cerebral hemorrhage are terms used to differentiate strokes according to their immediate cause. Doctors seldom use the old-fashioned term, "apoplexy," for stroke nowadays, according to the booklet. Hypertension or high blood pressure may be serious or mild in its effects. It can often be controlled by drugs or by changes in diet and living habits.

Rheumatic fever and its possible, rheumatic heart disease, account for much of the cardiovascular disease in young people. Estimates art that about 500,000 children in the United States are affected. Rheumatic fever can be prevented nowadays, however, by antibiotic control of streptococcal infections, and with continuous protection against repeat attacks of rheumatic fever, many children can escape rheumatic heart disease.

Congenital or inborn heart defects may be mild or serious and are present (though not always detected) at birth. Heart surgery, one of the most dramatic developments in medicine during recent years, has greatly improved the outlook for youngsters born with heart defects.

Throughout, the booklet cautions against self-diagnosis and stresses the importance of prompt medical diagnosis and care. "Facts about Heart and Blood Vessel Diseases" may be obtained from the San Mateo County Heart Association, 45 North B Street, San Mateo.

Junior Teen Program . . .

Attracts 250 Opening Night

Over 250 seventh and eighth grade youth took advantage of the Daly City Recreation Department's newly formed junior teen program at last Friday's opening night program.

The opening night program featured dancing, informal sports activities and mixed games at each of the three locations, as well as an outline of each club's proposed organization. Tentative committees were formed at each club to assist in the planning for the next series of meetings.

Each club will meet every other Friday evening from 7 to 9 p. m. with the next meeting scheduled for December 21. Location of the three clubs are Colma No. 1—Jefferson Elementary School; Colma No. 2—War Memorial Community Center; and Colma No. 3—Lincoln Park Clubhouse. The program at Jefferson Elementary School will move to Colma Jr. High School when the new multi-use room is completed.

Organizational items and activities scheduled for each club's planning include selection of permanent officers and committees, choosing of club names, adoption of constitution and by-laws, and the development of a master calendar of activities.

Youths can still join for the next three meetings. Membership is open to any 7th or 8th grade student living east of Junipero Serra Blvd. who lives in Daly City or attends a school in Daly City. Application blanks are available at Colma Intermediate School and at the Recreation Department Office. Initial membership fee is $75 with a .10c admission charge for each activity.

This program is the first section of a newly expanding program for junior high youth under the supervision of Youth Activities Alan Boyd of the local Recreation Department. A similar program for 7th and 8th grade youth living west of Junipero Serra Blvd. will be started after the first of the year.

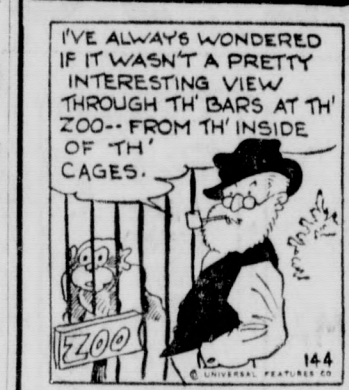

Additional information pertaining to the program can be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at PL 5-0850, Ext. 18.

Local Projects on Display at Library

The Daly City Recreation Department invites the residents of the community to see the outstanding work of local residents now on display at the Westlake branch of the Daly City Library. All projects on display are the products of members of the Daly City Recreation Department's Candle Making and Holiday Decoration classes. Classes were under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Galindo.

Popularity of these classes grows yearly as the caliber of the participants' work increases. Outstanding features of this year's display are the Candle Castle by Mrs. Marvoleon Simpson and the Plastic Reindeer by Mrs. Evelyn Wickerle. This year's classes, open to all Daly City residents, were concluded on December 3 but plans are being considered for another Home and Holiday Decoration Class in the near future.

1963 Rambler Classic, Ambassador Incorporate Many New Features

The 1963 Ramblers re-emphasize the compact leader's size and balance concept while utilizing new body building techniques to take on a fresh new appearance.

The new Rambler Classic Six and Ambassador V-8 on sale now, are lower in silhouette, look much bigger but are actually more than an inch shorter in over-all length than previous models.

Coming on the heels of the best sales year in the company's history, Rambler's first major appearance change in several years is based on an advanced unit construction method that results in a stronger, safer body and greater precision and quality in manufacturing.

Other highlights of the '63 Rambler include a seven-fold increase in use of galvanized steel for greater rust-resistance, step-down design with lower over-all height, curved side glass, new grille design, large wrap-around bumpers, new Twin-Stick floor shift transmission with overdrive, permanently lubricated transmissions, alternators, and many other improvements to further reduce maintenance costs and service requirements. Continued features include Rambler's double-safety brake system and ceramic-armored muffler and tailpipe.

Thomas A. Coupe, sales vice-president, said the new Ramblers "reconfirm our confidence in the compact concept as the dominant single force in the automobile industry."

"Despite advance predictions that there would be some size race in 1963, with Rambler in it, we continue to be committed to the commonsense approach to car design," Coupe said. "We believe in an optimum balance between convenient over-all exterior size and full family roominess inside, and balanced gasoline economy and modern performance."

"We continue to be committed also to styling stability and continuity, and to the avoidance of change merely for the sake of change. Our new look does not result simply from surface changes but from new bone and muscle underneath. Even the curved side glass which contributes importantly to Rambler's new luxury look has practical value in increased visibility and interior room and reduced wind noise."

Coupe said that "one of the by-products of our new unit body construction is increased wheelbase without increased over-all length."

"While wheelbase is not the design-controlling factor it once was in the automobile industry, the design that permitted us to move up from 108 inches to 112 offers definite advantages in roominess," he said.

New Appearance

The '63 Ramblers are lower, slimmer and racier in appearance. Over-all height is reduced nearly three inches. A modified step-down floor panel permits the lower silhouette without loss of interior roominess, Coupe noted.

The changes in basic body structure permitted a complete change of sheet metal for a "contemporary, youthful look which is still distinctively Rambler," Coupe said.

Crisp body lines are accented by slim front pillar and center posts and curved side glass, the first to be featured on a low-priced American car. Wide rear pillars slope forward to give stronger support to the slim roof line. Side window openings are framed in anodized aluminum extrusions curved to accommodate the new side glass.

Below the lower belt-line, new body sculpture adds to the general impression of fleetness and taut responsiveness. Tasteful body trim contributes to the look of cleanliness, simplicity, the principle adornment being concave spears continuing from front to rear on the Classic and a modified version extending from headlights into the front door panels of the Ambassador, which also has a wide molding on the lower side panels.

From the front, the new Rambler displays a distinctive concave grille with vertical grids setting off the Rambler name stamped in the center of the Classic grille. The Ambassador carries its own nameplate. The all-new grille is of one-piece aluminum construction with bright anodized finish for greater corrosion resistance.

Massive front and rear bumpers of deep wrap-around design eliminate the need for bumper guards. Rectangular-shaped turn and parking lights in front and the rear backup lights are integrated into the bumper design in a recessed position. The front lights are amber colored for better identity in both day and night driving.

Every contributor to CARE's Food Crusade gets a receipt that shows the countries whose people will be helped.

The 1963 compact Rambler American series features an all-new hardtop model, in addition to two and four-door sedans and station wagons and a convertible. The hardtop has a new roof panel with wide rear pillars and a large slanted rear window with roof creases to simulate a convertible's contours. A new "Twin-Stick" floor-shift transmission with overdrive is optional on 440 and 440-H models equipped with bucket seats. Also available are the E-Stick automatic clutch transmission and the Flash-O-Matic automatic transmission.

Drivers With A Past Caught By Automation

The National Driver Register and automation have trapped 118 dangerous drivers who lied about their previous records in order to get licenses at Washington, D.C. The register is a list of 300,000 persons from 46 states who have had their licenses revoked for drunken driving or contributing to a fatality.

The Commerce Department feeds these names into a computing machine to see if they match with those of new applicants for licenses. Of 208 found on the register last year, only 90 admitted earlier license suspensions. The other 118 face possible prosecution for "willful misrepresentation."

Two Tips on Brakes

Don't ride the brake pedal because, brake clearance being smaller than ever, the slightest pressure on the pedal may cause dragging.

Occasionally, when brake linings have worn unevenly, the car owner will attempt to "get by" with having only the most severely worn linings replaced. This may be justifiable when all the linings are new and one has been burned through un-

Auto Workers Get Another Raise As Living Costs Again Climb

Half a million hourly-rated auto workers have received another one-cent pay hike, bringing their average pay increase for the year to 10 cents an hour.

The latest hike, effective with the first pay period this month, is the result of an increase in the nation's cost-of-living index, released last week by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The workers received similar cost-of-living raises in June and September.

Although the index indicated the cost of living dropped slightly during October, increases recorded in September were enough to ensure the penny hike in auto wages.

The October index stood at 106 per cent of the 1957-59 average—down one-tenth of one per cent from September.

Increases were reported, however, in the cost of transportation, largely because automobile dealers offered smaller discounts on 1963 models than on the outgoing 1962 cars, according to the bureau. Prices of automobile insurance and tires also were higher, while prices of used cars and gasoline declined.

In addition, the auto workers received an annual-improvement-factor pay hike averaging 7 cents an hour in September.

The December pay increase will bring the total cost-of-living allowance to 9 cents an hour for the months of December, January and February. Salaried workers will get a similar increase of $5 in their quarterly cost-of-living allowance, raising their total allowance for the three-month period to $45.

Under contracts with the United Auto Workers Union, wages in the auto industry are adjusted every three months

Chrysler Corp. Halts Production Of Optional Aluminum Engine

Chrysler Corp. has halted production of aluminum engines, which had been offered as options on Valiants, 1963 Darts and earlier Lancers.

Chrysler's Kokomo, Indiana, plant quit turning out the aluminum units at the end of October.

The aluminum 145-horsepower six had been offered as an option in place of the standard 101-hp powerplant in the corporation's compacts. Chrysler said it will be replaced by an optional 145-hp six made of iron.

Chrysler said it dropped the aluminum engine because demand for the unit did not justify the added production costs it entailed.

Chrysler did not attribute the low demand to the fact that the engine was made of aluminum, however. It said it did not expect sales of the iron 145-hp option to be any higher. Chrysler said the cost of the option will remain the same.

Chrysler began production of aluminum engines in the fall of 1960, offering them as options on the '61 Valiant and Lancer.

Volume never got very high. In 1962, only 17 per cent of Valiants and Lancers produced were equipped with aluminum engines. Chrysler said it had no complaints about the engine's performance, but that the very limited output was not economical.

Earlier, Pontiac announced it would no longer offer an option according to the rise and fall in the cost-of-living index. Thousands of workers in auto supplier, aircraft and farm implement plants will receive similar pay raises later this month.

tional aluminum V-8 engine on its 1963 Tempest. Here again the reason was very limited demand for the option.

Because of low output of aluminum engines by Chrysler Corp. and Pontiac, there is apparently no fear in the aluminum industry of a trend away from use of the metal for engines.

Oldsmobile continues to offer an aluminum V-8 as standard in F-85 and an aluminum six is standard in Corvair. Buick offers an aluminum V-8 in the Special.

American Motors offers an aluminum engine as standard on some models and optional on others.

When Bearings Burn

The impression that bearings in old engines, or ones that have seen continued hard service, are the only ones likely to burn is the basis of a lot of trouble for car owners.

Bearings are very much more likely to burn out when new than when old because in their original condition they are tighter. The rest of the car is stiffer, and the result is that the bearings often are forced to stand the strain of the overloading. Straining means heating. The metal of the bearing facing is melted and the bearing clearance is increased to a point where a knock begins.

El Camino HS — The Forward Step In Education

By GARRY NIVER
"It is recognized that the best way to do things has yet to be found." The above statement is part of the basic philosophy of South San Francisco's new El Camino High School. And one can feel this philosophy in the air as soon as he sets foot on the El Camino campus, located at the intersection of Old Mission Road and Evergreen avenue, overlooking South San Francisco with the picturesque San Bruno Mountains as a backdrop.

The gleaming edifice of learning is in its second year of activity and already its strides in education are being felt in other throughout the state and the nation.

Youthful looking Robert Keropian, a former athletic star at San Francisco State College and Lowell High School, is the principal. The day the former South San Francisco High School vice principal was named head of the new El Camino school, he began his search for a highly intelligent faculty which would fit into his ideas for a solid, yet flexible and experimental program.

Keropian searched throughout California for the personnel he thought best suited for the type program he had in mind. Sometimes he had to go far, other times he found them right under his nose. From the Tracy school district he plucked Tom McCormick, a former Los Angeles Rams grid star, to head the physical education department. From Crosstown South San Francisco, he chose science educator Warren Hagberg to head the science department.

Today at El Camino, in less than two short years, there are none of the assembly-line, fact-jamming teaching methods, which are prevalent in other sections of the county. At El Camino the emphasis is on the individual student, on his capabilities and his desires.

Latest of the experimental programs is flexible scheduling. Keropian and his staff noted that many hours were lost in the demonstration classes on setting up the necessary equipment. Taking a chemistry class as an example, they discovered that approximately 11 weeks of instruction is lost through daily class preparations.

The breakdown was ten minutes to ready the class, five minutes to clean up and another five minutes going to and from classes. Out of a 55 minute hour, this left only 40 minutes of instructional time.

So the El Camino administration started experimenting last year with college-type scheduling. Instead of having chemistry one hour per day, five days a week, they switched it to one hour on Monday and two hours on Wednesday and Friday, eliminating Tuesday and Thursday classes. Other classes were switched to Tuesday and Thursday.

The result was a 110 minute instruction period, with the same 11 minutes subtracted for preparation, leaving a net of 99 minutes. Keropian said that the change resulted in an additional six weeks of instructional time over the traditional previous day-by-day schedule.

Science head Hagberg, who admitted that he was a little skeptical of the plan at first, said the plan had proved beneficial both to the student and to the teacher. "I am able to devote more individual time to the student and we are able to perform lab experiments in greater depth," said the science teacher.

Keropian noted that the train of thought of both the student and the teacher is not disrupted every hour. The two-hour classes also leave more time for field trips and athletic contests. Hagberg reported that he is already a week ahead of his normal teaching schedule.

Keropian stated that this type of flexible scheduling is unique to the Bay Area and is currently under study by other school districts.

Another unique aspect of El Camino is their program of studies. The curriculum at El Camino ranges from special classes for the slow or mentally retarded to advanced placement classes for the gifted in which the students earn actual college credit.

"Usually a school will provide for either one or the other, but we have set up a curriculum to provide for both sides of the scale," Keropian stated.

Included in the program of studies are a remedial or basic education program, a general education program, a college preparatory program, an industrial arts program, and a business education program.

"And these are all flexible," said Keropian. "A student who is gifted in one area, but not in another, will be given classes in two different programs."

Keropian is working closely with Superintendent Charles Davis and the assistant superintendent, Dr. Lewis Ferrari. Dr. Ferrari reported that some of the pilot programs are being integrated into the elementary and junior high school system to establish educational continuity.

"The most important thing we can do is articulate this program," said Dr. Ferrari.

The counseling and guidance program at El Camino is also unique. Under the direction of Dunae Albino, a 20 minute guidance class is held daily for group counseling. This makes it possible for counselors to provide general and routine information topics to students in large groups, thus making more time available for personal counseling.

The advanced program at El Camino can be felt in all areas, even in the physical education department. Last year, Keropian, noting the number of injuries in high school athletics, got together with his brother, Mike Keropian, a physical therapist at Children's Hospital in San Francisco, and set up a special muscle-testing program. The program has proven successful, and inquiries are pouring in from all over the United States.

The staff from the Children's Hospital came to El Camino and performed muscle tests on the athletes. It was found that many of the youths had muscle deficiencies.

Instead of the usual mass exercise program of sit-ups and push-ups in gym classes, each youth is given exercises corresponding to his weaknesses. These are the same type exercises given to patients to build up muscles. Significant weaknesses at various age levels have been discovered and the plan has been selected as a pilot program for the state of California this year.

These are the most significant revolutions going on behind the walls of learning at El Camino. Keropian and his staff have many more ideas which they are trying to perfect before applying them.

"We are not afraid to experiment on a small scale, as long as it isn't at the expense of the student," said Keropian.

And the El Camino education program has already begun to show favorable results. In some of the academic areas, such as social science and history, the El Camino students were in the top 90th percentile in the nation.

And as the students sit in their classes this very moment, more unique plans and pilot programs are on the drawing boards at El Camino. It is a never-ending process — "the best way to do things has yet to be found."

Christmas Program At Ben Franklin

The annual Christmas program at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School was presented Tuesday evening December 4, to a large and enthusiastic audience.

Students participating were members of Mrs. Elda Black's choral groups, and Mr. James Sharpen's seventh and eighth grade orchestra.

The choral groups performed four selections: "March in C Major," by Carl Czerny, "Pat-A-Pan," a French carol, "Indian Lament," a Miwok Indian chant, and a novelty number, "Tomorrow Will Be Christmas."

Lawrence Diamond performed a piano solo playing "Minute Waltz" by Chopin.

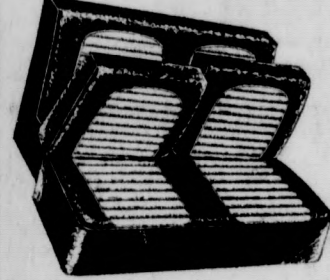

A violin solo, "To A Wild Rose," by Edward MacDowell, was performed by Steve Sokol.

A sing-along, led by the eighth grade Choral Class and student Janet Craig, concluded the evening's program with "Deck The Halls," "White Christmas," and "We Wish You A Merry Christmas."

Add the merest hint of lemon to dumplings to make them the perfect accompaniment to chicken fricassee. A fleck of sage or marjoram and they flatter a hearty beef stew.

Vets Urged To Complete Income Questionnaires

The Veterans Administration is mailing income questionnaire cards a month earlier this year according to San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer Floyd D. Granger. Those receiving them with their November checks from the VA will include non-service-connected veterans and their widows and children, and parents who receive dependency and indemnity compensation.

County Service Officers throughout California have attended meetings scheduled by the Division of Service and Coordination of the California Department of Veterans Affairs to discuss changes in VA requirements with regard to the questionnaires.

Granger explained the earlier mailing was set to ease the year-end rush that has been

Edison Girls Topped

The Thomas Edison Girl All-Star softball team was defeated by the women faculty members in an exciting contest. The game was a highlight of the close of a successful intramural program filled with enthusiasm and thrills.

The game was played during the afternoon physical education period and all classes were invited to attend.

The girls led throughout the contest, but in the last inning the "giants-from-behind-the-desk" rallied to win 6-5.

The young misses were slightly disappointed by a near victory over their "ancient counterparts," but the excitement and the fun everyone who participated enjoyed overcame any feelings of frustration.

Line-ups for the game were:

Daniel Webster Field Trip to Supermarket Is Educational

At Daniel Webster school, Mrs. Heidland's kindergarten classes have learned that although one usually pays to ride on a bus there is "no fare" required on the big buses that are provided by the school district to take them on educational field trips.

The field trip on Friday, November 30, was to the big QFI supermarket on Alemany where the store manager, Mr. Norman Gotelli welcomed them as he has in the past.

The children "knew all about" many of the operations in running a grocery store because they have a store in their classroom, but their eyes and mouths opened at the room-size refrigerator, behind-the-scenes meat preparation, the elevators and big machines used to haul, clean and prepare vegetables and fruits. They were helped to appreciate the neat and orderly manner in which good grocery store management takes place.

The grocery operation in Mrs. Heidland's room is a prize activity and through Mr. Gotelli's interest and effort it has been supplied with dummy, colorfully labeled canned fruits and vegetables. These have contributed much to discussions of healthful food habits. The "store keepers" relate to the "family" in the play house and food is arranged, sold and sometimes weighed, paid for in a business-like fashion.

It is properly stored or prepared in the "home." Why refrigeration is necessary, what different jobs there are at a store and the handling of money are among the things the children are beginning to understand. Study prints and film strips lend themselves to developing these understandings as well as increasing vocabulary.

Mr. Gotelli and his assistant Mr. Eller, each led half the children on what one might call the "grand tour," including wrapping machines and time clock for the seventy-five workers. The children left with packaging materials and several pounds of potatoes which they weighed, wrapped and priced the following school day.

Mothers who accompanied the group were: Mesdames: Lazzerini, McCarthy, Theis, Strayer, Plageman, Adler, Bellevue, Bordman, Duddy, Gainey, O'Callaghan, O'Hara, Talbot, Davidson, McKim and Carrozzini.

Music Program At Broadmoor Church

Seventy choir voices, from pre-schoolers to adult, will chorus the Christmas message in a two-story presentation at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in Colma this Sunday evening, Dec. 16 at 7 p.m.

Commencing in the church sanctuary, and afterwards moving downstairs to the social hall, the program encompasses traditional, formal music, and the lighter airs of the Christmas season.

Four choirs will be represented: the Cherubs, under the direction of Mrs. Jack Spratt, pre-schoolers all, with 15 singers; the Juniors, who are 4th, 5th, and 6th-graders, 24 boys and girls; the Youth Choir, 7th, 8th, and 9th-graders, 13 strong; and the 24-voice adult choir. The over-all program, and the direction of the latter three choirs, is under the guidance of Delmar Severy, organist-choir director at the 87th St. church. Three-year-old Patricia Severy is an Honorary Member of the Cherubs.

Following the choir procession, the Cherubs will sing "Away In A Manger," and "Jesus So Dear." Congregational carol singing will help the transitional movement of the choirs, since the choir loft at the Broadmoor church is not spacious enough for all the singers at one time.

Said Severy, "In order to keep the program running smoothly, we must move one choir in, another out, have them seated or standing according to their part in the presentation, and be ready for the next section by the time the congregation have finished their carol or hymn."

The Junior Choir then sings "Cradle Song," "I Saw Three Ships," and "Infant Holy." This is followed by "The Drum Carol," "Joseph Dearest," and "Joy To The World," presented by the Youth Choir. The Juniors and Youths taped Christmas music at KPIX on December 9, to be telecast, along with children's choirs of other local churches, during the week preceding Christmas, at 5:55 p.m. A different choir will be featured each day.

Three a capella anthems, "Sing Noel," "All Glory on High," and "The Carol of The Drum" open the Adult Choir presentation. The final selections are "Birth" and "Christmas Day," the latter with all four choirs singing. This presented quite a problem to director Severy, since the organ is in the choir loft and is concealed from sight of those in the congregation. The Junior and Youth choirs will have moved to the pew areas, and an elaborate system of mirrors will permit Mr. Severy to direct and accompany all the singers from the choir loft.

"Normally we use small mirrors for the organist to see the congregation. But on this occasion the children who have moved to the congregation must see the organist, and this means bigger mirrors. The trustees of the church came to the rescue," commented Severy, "and on reflection, they've done a beautiful job!"

The formal choir program will conclude with a recessional, which will lead the congregation downstairs to the social hall, where the second level program will commence.

Light, informal Christmas songs will be led by Ken Gillespie, following which cookies, coffee, and refreshments will be served by the choir mothers, Mrs. Richard Gray as chairman for the evening's refreshments.

Rev. Herbert Tweedie, Broadmoor's minister, cordially invites the public to attend the 8th Annual Christmas music program.

"The choirs have been working on Christmas songs since September. On Wednesday nights I usually drop by to get the anthem and hymn numbers for the Sunday program, and somebody always shoves a music folder in my hands and points to a chair," said Rev. Tweedie.

Broadmoor Presbyterian hold twin morning worship services at 9:30 and 11 a.m., with Sunday School at both hours for all ages and infant care provided.

Bible Study Hour Tonight

The midweek prayer and Bible study hour meets tonight, December 12, at 7:45 o'clock at 232 Mansfield drive, South San Francisco. The pastor begins a study entitled "What Others Believe." This will be a series of studies on what other religious groups believe. The topic for discussion at this first session will be "Jehovah's Witnesses."

The pastor of the church travels to Turlock Friday, December 14, to attend the meeting of the Christian Education Committee of the Northern California Baptist Conference. Further planning will be done for the two high school-college-age snow camps, the Conference Youth Fellowship convention, and the senior graduation banquet.

Saturday, a group of young people and adult sponsors will attend the San Francisco "Youth for Christ" rally in San Francisco, at the War Memorial Auditorium. The rally begins at 7:30 p.m., and this night will feature Alan Davis, recording artist, who has just returned from a European tour. There will be another inter-high school Bible club quiz.

The Sunday church school of Westlake Baptist meets at 9:45 a.m. each Sunday morning, and this week all of the departments with the exception of the adult class, will have their final practice for the Christmas program during the Sunday school hour.

At the 11 a.m. morning worship hour, the pastor has chosen as his sermon topic "A Heavenly Vision."

Sunday evening, December 16, there will be no Conference Youth Fellowship groups, or Jet-Cadet meetings at the regular 6:15 p.m. hour. Instead, at 6 p.m., the Sunday church school will present its annual Christmas program, "The Message of the Bells." The program is under the direction of the church school superintendent, Alton Swedberg.

Narrators for the program will be Mike Faver and Ron Swedberg. There will be group singing of favorite Christmas carols, and also singing by the various departments and classes of special songs. Three boys from the junior Sunday school class, Paul Donnelly, John Sturdevant and Calvin Grayson, will serve as ushers.

At the conclusion of the program, there will be treats for the children, followed by a period of fellowship and refreshments. Parents and friends are urged to attend.

All of the Sunday services of the Westside Baptist Church are held in the auditorium of the Southwood School, Southwood drive and Hill streets, South San Francisco. The Westside Baptist Church is affiliated with the Baptist General Conference.

The December 15 rally, to be held in the War Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco's Civic Center, will mark the termination of the current "Win Your Pastor A Suit for Christmas" contest. That night a new suit will be presented to the pastor with the largest total delegation present at the last four YFC rallies.

Prizes will be awarded to top teen salesmen working their way to the Holiday Teen Convention, to be held in Sacramento, December 26 to 28. Quiz competition will bring together teams from Lowell and Washington High Schools. As always, teens will have a prominent part in the rally program.

San Francisco Youth for Christ rallies are held the first and third Saturday of each month. Starting time is 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and all are welcome to attend. For additional information, call YFC director Warren Ninness at Market 1-1637.

Abraham Lincoln Children To 'Fly Away' To North Pole, December 14

In the spirit of Christmas, the children in Kindergarten B, Abraham Lincoln Elementary School, will "fly away" to the North Pole on Friday, December 14. Parents and friends are invited to this festive performance of rhythms with a holiday purpose.

The red and green winged airplanes will be (a.m.): Bruce Peerman, Mark Wheeler, Kevin Redfield, Alexander Schwed, Christopher Green and Bruce Faulkner; (p.m.): Larry Ohman, Wayne Pearl, Ed Guzman, Richard Andersen, Craig Broune, Martin Picciau and Kelly Thayer. The dainty, prancing reindeer who will greet the children before Santa's Workshop are to be: (a.m.) Elizabeth Greene, Charlene Benton, Laurie Oliva, Alfred Deltorchio, Jeffrey Prudencio, Julie Banks and Benjamin D'Alba; (p.m.) Judith Jensen, William Kennedy, James Brooks, Kathryn Goheen, Claudia Stock, Susan Hirsch and Regina Tarantina.

The Wooden Soldiers in their red, white and blue soldier hats, who will parade in close formation, are to be: (a.m.) Matthew Wheat, Barbara Levey, Cameron Smith, Yvonne Roche and Helen Theofanis; (p.m.) Robert Potts, Carol Spitaleri, Julie Rodrigo, Peter Consulter, Kevin Brady, Susan Begun and Rochelle Feldman. With bells ringing clear, the jingle bell section will perform as follows: (a.m.) Kathryn Grimley, Robin Wiltz, Linda Burlingame, Michelle McPhun, Teresa Coppin, Cameron Piles

Santa's Helpers

Santa's helpers are everywhere! Even at Vista Mar School! Those of you who have stopped by recently were probably amazed that Vista Mar is almost another Santa Claus Lane!

We are well supplied with plaster of paris snowmen originally created by the staff and student body. You would be amazed just what a ski cap, wool scarf, and a pair of charcoal eyes does for the personality of a snowman. These lovely little figures of white are, until the holidays, enjoying a pleasant stay together on the school courtyard lawn.

To accent the festive decor, clever and gay Christmas decorations can be readily viewed in classroom windows. Of course there's a Santa! Big as life and keeping an eye on the boys and girls from the window of Miss Peggy Dwyer's third grade classroom!

Our trees have a new face, too. Who would have guessed that a tinfoil pie plate could decorate a tree so attractively? Many boys and girls have designed and made such ornaments to add to the new outfit of the trees.

Something different has been added, too. Have you ever heard of "boomers"? Well, if you aren't sure, drop by and see six white boomers on the window of Mrs. Jeanne Oberlander's fourth grade room.

Just a sideline—who ever said dining wasn't a pleasure? The Vista Mar boys and girls have been enjoying the pleasant strains of Christmas carols while eating their lunch. What a life!

That's it from Vista Mar Lane!

Instrumental Study

The Third Grade class of Miss Lynette Hoffman, Abraham Lincoln Elementary School, is studying the instruments which comprise an orchestra. Mr. Robert Steele, instrumental music instructor for the district, visited the class on Thursday morning, December 6, to demonstrate the trumpet as an example of a wind instrument and the bass violin as a member of the stringed instruments. Mr. Steele played "Jingle Bells" on the trumpet and rendered "The Elephants' Walk" on the violin.

The children have determined to create instruments of their own. For a beginning, the class collected a shoe box, rubber bands and pencils and put together a stringed instrument.

Semi-Formal Dance Friday At Westmoor

Snow-flaked windows and candy-cane striped pillars will School cafeteria in Christmas fashion as the seniors host the semi-formal dance, "Winterland by Night," this Friday evening.

Against a backdrop of deep green will be assembled the WHS dance band who will provide instrumental entertainment and dance music for the evening.

The focal point of the Yuletide decorations will be a large snow-sprayed pine tree surrounded by packaged gifts brought by the students. Later, the gifts are to be donated to the charity drive, "Toys for Tots."

Decorating the dance will be a committee headed by seniors Walter Haub and Sandy Sorensen. Committee members are Lynn Anderson, LaVerne Carter, Rosalie Castano, Carol Cordano, John Cummings, Merrilee Ehsaif, and Pat Franke.

Local Youths Visit Mass Medium Plants

Anthony Peligrino, business education teacher at South San Francisco High School, recently took his general business class for a field trip to KQED and the News Call Bulletin.

The tours were connected with a unit on communication which the class was studying.

Peligrino plans to give his general business class another field trip when they are studying a unit on transportation. In order to give his typing students an incentive, he plans to take his best typing class on a field trip which has a connection with their class work.

Future Business Leaders Organize At South SF High

A chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America is now being organized at South San Francisco High School. This is a national organization having high school members interested in business as its members. At the present time the club at SSFHS is mostly limited to high school freshmen.

Its purpose is to interest students in business careers early in their high school careers. One of the main plans of the club is for the group to attend state and national business conventions.

Karla Muller, the only sophomore in the club, was elected president with Susan Dewey, vice-president; Vivian Bradley, secretary; and Pat Casey, treasurer. Anthony Peligrino is the faculty adviser.

and Chuck Suenderman. Other publicizers are Tito Torres, Marilyn Wagner, and Joan Wright.

To advertise the dance, committee members, in dressy attire, issued formal invitations to Westmoorites during the lunch periods on Monday.

The ticket committee is led by seniors Lynn Montanos and Jim Henderson. Among the ticket sellers are Mike Hunter, Steve Lerner, Ricky Spektor, and Chris Tierney.

Serving as refreshment committee chairman is Student Body President Mark Clark. Assisting him is senior Chris Hartman.

Girls Gather Items For Yule Open House

Gathering scraps and household items for Christmas decorations and gifts has been the task of over one hundred young future homemakers in their homemaking classes. Results of this handicraft will be on display in rooms 9 and 10 at Christmas Open House on December 18.

Holiday atmosphere and spirit has fairly bristled during the several weeks' preparation, spent with drippy wax which eventually took the shape of long slim waxwork masterpieces.

Toothpicks just wouldn't stay put until they found their way into styrofoam bases. Bright strips of colored yarn were gaily woven around crossed bamboo sticks to form snowflakes, and elaborate recipes have been closely scrutinized for the ones yielding the most appropriate cookies to wrap and give as gifts.

Setting the room aglow with festive spark, each girl created her own contribution to one of three categories: decorations, gift wrappings, and gifts. Work was swiftly accomplished in class each day. Everyone brought her own materials and will be permitted to take her handicraft with her after the Open House to decorate her

A Bulletin Board For The Esthete

Westmoor High students may now find "Peanuts," play reviews, poems, and pamphlets adorning the bulletin board in Miss Jean Lory's English class.

Using Mr. Charles Schulz's creation, "Peanuts" and other humorous cartoons, Miss Lory entices students to read the current book and play reviews.

From San Francisco theater productions, souvenir programs have been posted in hopes that students will take advantage of the multifarious activities throughout the city.

For the Yuletide season, Miss Lory put up a Christmas poem from Holiday magazine effectively printed in red and green. To supplement the happy atmosphere, she also posted colorful magazine covers.

As an interest to the English classes, various reviews of Shakespeare's plays, including one comment from the Des Moines Registrar, comprised the bulk of the bulletin board.

Off to one side, Miss Lory posted a comment on happiness by Mr. Schulz. "Happiness is an A on a spelling test," Miss Lory added, "I sometimes wish my students would experience that kind of happiness."

Terra Nova Students Attend Model Senate

By Betsy Morrison

The Fourth Annual Model Senate was held at Jefferson High School, December 4 and 5. The session on December 4 was held from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. and the session on December 5 was held from 12:30 to 3 p.m.

Terra Nova sent three people as spectators. The people were Sandra Shade, Kathy Drake, and Christina Oborn.

The first that was done at the conference was the reading of the Republican and Democratic party platforms, which were made up by students.

Then, various bills were presented and action was taken on them. There was a bill to restrict the sale of cigarettes to minors; one on the distribution of farm surplus to needy people; one to cut in foreign aid; and one to cut the power of the President concerning the federalizing of state militia.

The Terra Nova Juniors will hold their class session on December 14. It will be called "Sleighride to the Stars." The decorations, so I've heard, are to be very beautiful.

The Seniors held a meeting after school on December 4 to brainstorm for fund-raising ideas. Our senior activities are going to cost quite a lot, so we're really going to need the money.

Rotary Honors SSF Students

Since September the South San Francisco Rotary Club has selected three South San Francisco students as "Rotary Boy of the Month." Honored by the organization have been Bill Gorham, Bruce Grantham, and Edison Louie.

All of these boys have maintained high scholastic records and have participated in student activities.

The choice of "Rotary Boy of the Month" is left to the faculty and administration of the South San Francisco High School. Their selections are made after a consideration of students' grades and their leadership in school activities.

After being selected, each boy was honored at four Rotary Club luncheons.

The Rotary Club has undertaken the program in order to show its interest in outstanding students. This is the second year of the program.

Museum to Welcome W'moor Art Students

The San Francisco Art Museum, which will welcome Westmoor High School art students tomorrow, has already hosted four budding artists. Lloyd Caldwell, Ray Ostrowski, Calvin Costa, and Donna Hutchins were present November 28 to hear discussions by staff members. The series of discussions which are, and will be, presented have included the discovery of the meaning in modern art; is "meaning" a factor in contemporary art, or is incomprehensibility the answer?

These discussions, which will also be continued January 9 and 23, enable the students to gain further opinion and insight into the history and understanding of art, early and recent. Topics ranging from easel painting and its popularity to the landscape of anxiety, not only present new concepts in art, but also lead the students themselves to take part in discussions.

YWCA Teen Girls Elect Officers

Club officers were selected at the second meeting of the new Daly City YWCA Y-Teen club. Jeannie Keefe was elected president; Marilyn Ogata, activities chairman; Carol Moffitt, secretary; Sally Parish, treasurer; and Linda Montalbano, sergeant-at-arms.

The YWCA is a world wide organization. Programs and activities are scheduled through which girls and women have opportunity for self-development, service, fellowship, and recreation.

All senior high school girls are invited to attend the next meeting of the Daly City Y-Teen club. Meetings are held Mondays, 3:30 p.m., at the War Memorial Building, Rm. A. Westmoor girls are invited to join the Y-Teen club that is active at Westmoor High.

Youth Council Meet Termed Huge Success

Members of the Northern California Youth Council's Constitution Revision Committee left Daly City Saturday praising not only the success of their meeting but the excellent hospitality provided by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Acting as host city for this third in a series of meetings, Daly City youth were responsible for all local arrangements including facilities, equipment, coffee and doughnuts, and the buffet lunch. Jefferson High Senior Darryl Crist, Daly City's official delegate to the Committee, acted as the official host. He was assisted by the following: Ce-Ce Murrish, alternate delegate, Ray Marshall, Elfe Dahme, Chris Davis, Gail Wyman and Dave and Bob Vogt.

Students Hear Stock Reports

Dr. George Madison of San Francisco State College spoke to Westmoor High students of economics on December 5.

A professor of business, he gave Mr. Dexter Leland's class an account of a report that was presented stock holders.

The Scott Paper Company's annual report to the stock holder which according to Dr. Madison, "has to be given at least once a year to the stock holders," was used.

The booklet gave the stock holder four main areas of what was happening in the company. These areas were the significant figures which tell what the money of the company was generally used for; consolidated operations which show the progress position of the company, and a general "buttering-up" of the stock holder.

Also brought out was an equation which accountants use to explain the consolidated financial position of the company. This equation, A-L equals P, showed that assets minus liabilities equal proprietorship, or, own minus own equals worth. It also shows that a business' worth is the total value of everything it owns minus the total value it owes.

During Dr. Madison's talk, he used everyday examples in explanation of his points. This enabled the students to get a better understanding of his topic.

North County Students Featured In CSM Band

The College of San Mateo marching band, directed by Dick Crest of the College faculty, will compete in the Junior Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena on December 15.

In the ten-block long parade in downtown Pasadena, fifteen of the West's best junior college marching bands will be judged on performance, appearance, and marching style. Following the parade, all of the competing band units will go to the Rose Bowl where they will combine to do a pre-game routine. The winning band will be announced and additional performances will be given during the half-time.

The San Mateo band features majorette Judee Malone, an eighteen year old freshman from San Mateo who has been twirling for the past twelve years. She has won seventy-five major awards for twirling, including the one and two baton championships of California and the Rocky Mountain area for two consecutive years. Also, during the past ten years she has been a member of the 49ers majorette corps, which she joined as a solo twirler, and now teaches at the 49er studio in Palo Alto. Among her unusual awards is a solid gold coin bearing the royal seal of Ethiopia, presented to her following her second command performance for Emperor Haile Selassie during her family's residence in Ethiopia from 1958 to 1960.

The drum major for the College of San Mateo unit is Don Ross of Castro Valley, also a freshman. An instrumental music major who plans to go into teaching, Ross was the drum major for four years for the Castro Valley High School band. San Mateo's banner girls will be Betty Luporini of Millbrae and Gerry Rubis of Burlingame.

North county band members who will make the Pasadena trip include: Keith Wagner of Bayshore; Gary Duos, Charlie McCarthy, Jim Spratt, and Lee Tompkins of Daly City, and Paul Bakenhofer, Pacifica.

As the only American voluntary agency on Cypress, CARE gives impartial help to both Greek and Turkish communities on the once embattled island. Largest program, CARE's Food Crusade, provides a daily lunch for 85,000 primary school children.

Christmas Berry Fits Into Garden Setting

Of all the native plants which grace our Golden State, none has more practical value than the colorful Christmas Berry. Here is a shrub or small tree which fits readily into the garden setting. It has handsome green foliage, white spring bloom and bright red berries in late fall. The latter are ideal for decking the halls during our holiday season.

There are many names by which you might find the California Christmas Berry. Botanists call it Photinia, while old friends know it as Toyon or California Holly. By any name, however, it is still the same fine shrub which members of the California Association of Nurserymen rank with the Ceanothus as one of our two most useful natives.

Shining Shrub

Photinia, the botanical name, is derived from the Greek photinos, which means "shining" and that is one of the first things you notice about this fine shrub. At any season, it is an evergreen mass of glossy green, saw-toothed leaves, some four inches long. These leaves make a rich background in the garden. They are spotted occasionally with bronzy tones and often with bright red leaves, which turn that way just before they drop off the shrub.

In spring, the Christmas Berry is aglow with flowers. These are pink in the bud, white when they open and are borne in clusters which later become berries. In full bloom, the shrub is often completely covered with white flowers. The flowers are not spectacular, but in the manner of a Pyracantha, their numbers make a fine show. They are mighty nice to have around.

UC Davis Honors Local Collegian

Bruce J. McChesney, Daly City, was recently initiated into the Blue Key Honorary Society of the Davis campus of the University of California.

Six top-ranking junior and senior men were selected for the honor on the basis of their scholarship, integrity, and extracurricular service to the university.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. McChesney, of 584 St. Francis boulevard, Daly City, McChesney is a junior majoring in history in the College of Letters and Science at Davis.

UNICEF Greeting Cards Sold By Daly City Women

Greeting cards which will bring health and hope to needy children in more than 100 countries helped by UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, will be sold locally by Annelle C. Peters, 184 Franklin Street, Daly City, DE 4-2338, it was announced today.

"The sight of a sick and hungry child is unbearable to all of us," Mrs. Peters said. "The mere fact that such a child happens to live in Asia, Africa, Europe or Latin America should be no obstacle to the help we would not hesitate to give him if he were before our eyes."

The chairman of the UNICEF Greeting Card sales program pointed out that the proceeds from each box of ten cards, priced at $1.25, would mean a daily cup of milk for 45 hungry children for one week, or the vaccine to protect 60 youngsters from tuberculosis.

"The 1962 series will meet a variety of tastes," Mrs. Peters noted. "The spirit of Christmas is especially evident in two designs donated by Fritz Busse, 'Christmas Morning' and 'The Creche'. In 'The Messenger', America's famous Arnold Blanch shows an angel bringing glad tidings to a sleeping town, and his second card portrays Middle Eastern pilgrims about to start out on their quest under the guidance of a brilliant star."

Other designs include two African folklore scenes, "Winter Carnival" by American "primitive" painter Leo Schutzmacher, and a series of five colorful cards, "Festival of Birds," contributed by Roger Agell.

The entire UNICEF selection can be seen and purchased from Annelle C. Peters, 184 Franklin Street, Daly City. A full color brochure can be obtained by writing to the same address or phoning DE 4-2338.

At a village in Turkey, 200 undernourished children gained an average of a pound a month in 6 months of CARE milk servings. Contributions to CARE's Food Crusade, 444 Market St., San Francisco, California, help make such programs possible.

Specimen Tree

You can also try Christmas Berry as a specimen tree or tall shrub at the edge of a patio or spotted in the shrub border. Try pruning it up to form a small tree, opening the framework of branches to admit light to highlight the already glossy nature of the leaves.

This rugged shrub is native to many areas of California, including the unfriendly, rocky islands off the coast. It is found in the Sierra foothills and in the coast range, indicating that it will thrive in virtually any California conditions. Certainly it shares the typical native indifference to water, but at the same time, it does not resent overwatering the way many native plants do.

Plant Christmas Berry in any normal soil and don't make it struggle for a start in life. That's all right for Nature's garden, but reasonable water and even a shot of food at the start will give you berry size shrubs sooner than otherwise.

Another California First

Quite a bit is being made of the fact that California is about to become the most populous state in the Union. Depending on whether you believe Governor Brown or Governor Rockefeller, this momentous event will happen either this month or in March.

As far as we are concerned, it makes little difference. Everyone has known for years that California was going to be the most populous state — particularly since we have had all the problems of a booming area for years.

In fact, California has been the leader in promoting itself and in bringing more people to the West Coast. We take great pride in it, until we get our tax bills, or are asked to pass bond issues. Then the screams arise.

Then we must face facts. When we have more people we must have more services — streets, sewers, water supplies, schools, jails, police, firemen, etc. So we must pay for them.

But a rising population has its compensations, too. More people, more jobs, more payroll. It is not just a coincidence that Californians earn more than those in most other states. And as long as we keep getting people with energy and enthusiasm the state's economy will grow with its people.

So, December or March, it makes little difference. California is about to add another "first" to the many it has in agriculture, industry and business.

Empty Battle Cry

More in amusement than in anger, we suspect, American males are absorbing the scolding administered on behalf of her sex by Elaine Kendall in the December Reader's Digest.

Miss Kendall notes that, according to Holy Writ, her sex is only junior to the males by "one short day," yet it has just been discovered by investigators. As a result, she complains, "We are fair game, any time, anywhere—dissected and discussed in the public press and on television programs under titles like 'The American Woman in Transition' and 'Whither the American Female?'"

However surprised women may be at this turn of events, we can assure the writer that such discussions scarcely merit a grin from the men and are undoubtedly presented for the edification of women. So far as we men are concerned, women have always been a subject of the most consuming interest—and admiration.

Even the title of Miss Kendall's article, "Et Tu, Brute!," puzzles us. We are not sure whether she is being classical or making a pun out of the ignoble Roman. She notes that women gained admission to the voting booth only in 1920, yet "men ask us all the time what we've done with the vote," and therefore would ask what men have done with it.

In the first place, we do not recall ever having asked a woman such a thing. It isn't necessary. There is seldom anything very secret about a woman's ballot. And besides, we were brought up to treat ladies like ladies, even if they became politicians. But for that inhibition, we might comment on the author's observation that: "Civilization is in a bit of a bind today," and ask if it was in a worse bind in 1920.

Miss Kendall also wants to know: "How successful have men been at combining marriage with a career?" She admits this is a difficult question "because most men are completely unaware that it is a dual role." It is true that men consider working for and enjoying the satisfactions of family life as just one big, king-size job. And it might be better if the working woman did the same, instead of thinking of herself as Joan of Arc at the dishpan. She wanted the dishpan as well as the desk, didn't she?

And we admit Miss Kendall's conclusion throws us completely. "Maybe it's interesting to be either a man or a woman only when there's some basis for intelligent comparison."

Of course there's no such basis. But who wants to compare, anyway?

'Moral Emphasis' SM County Vets Get Large Return

The California Highway Patrol will be among agencies cooperating in the "Moral Emphasis" safe driving program now under way throughout the state, Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden said, this week.

The campaign will point out that "safe driving involves more than mere physical dexterity in handling a vehicle; it also must include acceptance by every driver of his moral responsibility for the safety of others using the road," he said.

"Safe driving demands a knowledge of law, the vehicle and yourself, plus the wisdom to conscientiously apply that knowledge," Crittenden added.

"The Moral Emphasis campaign will continue through the Christmas and New Year's holidays in an attempt to cut the traffic accident toll which so often makes a mockery of this traditional season of 'good will toward men,'" Crittenden said.

SM County Vets Get Large Return

San Mateo County realized a return of $586,127 for every dollar spent in the operation of the County Veterans' Service office in fiscal 1961-62, according to Floyd D. Granger, San Mateo County veterans' service officer.

This is money gained from claims established with the federal government for San Mateo County veterans, their dependents and survivors.

Hospitalization savings, based on the county hospital daily patient rate for veterans who were transferred to Veterans Administration Hospitals has amounted to $59,500,000.

The combined total came to $645,627 and the cost of operating the local office came to $31,903.

Statewide, total recoveries and savings came to $26,918,261, while total cost of operation state-wide was $1,278,349, of which the state's participation was $498,431.

The View From .. Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Line of Duty
Jerry Galindo, Patrol Sergeant for the Second Platoon, was staked out in a supermarket recently. It seems that the market had been threatened with both a robbery and a bombing.

Appropriately assigned in civilian clothing, Sergeant Galindo suffered an accidental fall in the market. The sergeant broke a leg in two places.

Galindo is presently off duty from this line of duty injury. He was repaired at Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. He will probably be convalescing at his home at the time this article is published.

The Sarge hopes to return to limited duty in the near future—claims he would rather be working in any capacity as opposed to playing the part of the invalid.

Sergeant Galindo has come closer to more serious injury in the line of his duties. A few years ago he was staked out in a golf course as a precaution against the notorious and then active "Cat Burglar."

The two men came upon each other in the dark night and exchanged gunfire. As it happened, both men missed in the darkness. (The Cat Burglar was sent to prison about a year ago.)

Transfer
Officer Dennis Sheehy has been assigned to the Detective Division for the next three month training tour. He replaces Les Bastedo, who has completed his three month assignment and is now routinely reassigned to the First Platoon of the Patrol Division.

With this assignment, the lateral transfer training program enters a second year. While some mistakes have been made, and some disappointments suffered, this in-service training program has been largely successful.

The program entails the rotating three month assignment of what appears to be a deserving uniformed patrolman to the Detective Division. He brings the thoughts and problems of the uniformed officer to the detectives with him.

His practice as a detective, if he is a good student, stands him in good stead as an investigator upon his return to the beat. An officer so assigned has an opportunity to practice more intensely the investigative skills which he has been using while on patrol.

The good student, and most of them are, thus returns to patrol with a more rounded set of qualifications, as a result of having benefited from work in two mutually supporting divisions of the department.

An Aside
Two judges were assigned to one court building. It seems that each had received a traffic citation in the same week. Being honest men, they each determined to go to court and to plead guilty to the offense.

They each agreed to hear the other's case. The first judge pled guilty to the second judge, on a charge of speeding. The culprit was fined five dollars.

Then they exchanged places, and the second judge appeared before the first judge on his charge. He likewise pleaded guilty to the charge of driving at an excess speed.

The judge on the bench considered the case—
"H'm, this is the second such case before this court today. There seems to be entirely too much speeding in this jurisdiction. I sentence you to ten dollars fine or ten days in jail!"

The Recruit School
This month saw the completion of the annual police recruit school. This year it was conducted at the San Mateo Police Department in the new building that that department boasts.

The program runs with state financial aid. It is conducted under the auspices of the College of San Mateo, and is implemented by the Education Committee of the San Mateo County Law Enforcement Association.

Daly City Police recruits who graduated were Patrolmen Robert Ingbrigtson, Edward Guzman, and Harry Lax.

The Police Station
We'll bet the reader thought, as he read the last item, that we were going to complain about our worn out, broken down, overcrowded, obsolete police station again.

If the reader thought this, he was correct. We did and do mean to complain. Let's face it—the city needs a new Police Station—the present misarrangement of space is a disgrace to the City and an unnecessary burden to the department and the citizens alike.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

The recent campaign for the position of State Superintendent of Schools brought forward a debate that is discussed in many books and articles by noted educators.

On one side are the authors, who claim that the nation's schools have de-emphasized school subjects that train the mind to think clearly and quickly. Some of these men believe that the schools are grouping subjects that are too basic to be part of a group: History, geography and civics as social studies; grammar, literature, and public speaking as language arts.

Others ask for more emphasis on arts and science and less on athletics and school activities. Still others call for more drills, more problems, and more home work and less creative projects and classroom visits to libraries and zoos.

The opponents of these writers say that today's schools do more than educate the mind. In stating their concepts, they agree with Dr. William C. Bagley, one of the pioneers in "progressive education." He wrote in a democracy, "human qualities such as sympathy, tact, humor, and sociability, and moral qualities such as integrity, industry, persistence, courage, and loyalty are more important than intellectual talents."

Among the books where the issues are debated under one cover is "Education in the Nation's Service" by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation. It contains essays by Archibald MacLeish, Harry D. Gideonse, Jacques Barzun, McGeorge Bundy, John Hershey, and others noted as observers of 20th century America.

Another book being used is "Education for American Democracy" by Edward J. Power. Mr. Power believes that education can be defined as the "formation of men," and its essential ends arise out of man's life in society.

An article published in last week's issue of Life magazine is a criticism of American education from the point of view of persons who quit teaching. An article entitled "Uncle Sam's Rejects" can be found in this week's Saturday Evening Post. It presents some frightening figures.

top of the hill

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

Daly City, of whom it is said by experts has the highest birth rate per resident in the United States, is fast gaining a national reputation. Overnight, the predominantly "bed-room community" has acquired a famous, or maybe it is infamous, reputation in the eyes of the rest of the nation.

The most recent account of the fertility of Daly City's populace appeared in a slick cover scandal magazine, more known for its lawsuits than its factual reporting. The mag, which has an international distribution, featured a story entitled, "The Town Where Pregnancy Is Catching," and starts its article with an "oft-told story around Daly City," which we had never heard before until we picked up the magazine.

The story contains several flagrant exaggerations, an example being that they total the school population of both Pacifica and Daly City, but give credit to Daly City only. But we aren't here to question the integrity of this mag. Our interest lies in the fact that Daly City does have the highest birth rate in the nation.

We can't see that the people who live in Daly City are any different than those of some other "in so-called bedroom cities" in the Bay Area, but there must be something in the air or water.

Perhaps one of the reasons that Governor Brown is insisting that California will become the most populous state this month is because he's been reading the birth rate figures for our community.

Tomorrow afternoon, December 13, the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Christmas luncheon at the Cypress Hills golf course. It is expected to be a very gay affair with the wives being given corsages and the Westmoor High School chorus providing Christmas carols.

The Westview Baptist Church in South San Francisco is currently running a series of lectures entitled, "What Others Believe," which gives insight and information into other religions. This is a very commendable gesture and should help rid some of the unfounded beliefs which religions hold towards each other.

Some of the religious barriers which have been erected are quite ludicrous. Let's hope that other churches adopt Westview's initiative in promoting the understanding of man.

Will Return From Overseas

Arthur R. Streep, boatswain's mate third class, USN, husband of the former Miss Linda L. Kindade of 408 Fremont, Pacifica, is serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Salisbury Sound, scheduled to return to the United States soon after spending six months overseas.

The ship visited several foreign ports during her deployment.

Airman Pickerrell, who completed the first phase of his military training here, was selected for the specialized course on the basis of his interests and aptitude.

He is a 1962 graduate of Westmoor High School.

'Tis the night after Christmas

Not a creature is stirring—and certainly not Santa. He's enjoying the comfort of an electric blanket. (He found it under his Christmas tree!)

Everyone likes the light-weight warmth of one electric blanket. You choose the warmth, and it stays the same automatically, even though the room temperature changes. It's a gift gratefully received. (The old blankets could be a gift, too—for CARE, 444 Market Street, San Francisco.)
